Leftists Battle Police In Tokyo

Bloody Riots Mark Japs' Protest Of Pact, Ike Visit

TOKYO (AP) — Bloody battles erupted between rock-throwing radical students and charging, club-swinging police today as Japanese leftists launched a new wave of demonstrations against the U.S.-Japanese security pact and President Eisenhower's visit to Japan.

Students once broke into the grounds of Prime Minister Nobusuke Kishi's official residence. They were forced out, then charged three times by several hundred blue-uniformed, helmeted police.

Heads were bloodied and college men and coeds knocked to the street in a free-for-all that put the students in retreat.

No shots were fired and no one appeared seriously hurt.

The free-for-all climaxed a 3½-hour demonstration by some 5,000 students around the heavily guarded Parliament building.

The students carried placards and chanted slogans denouncing the Prime Minister, Eisenhower's scheduled June 19-22 visit and the partially ratified treaty authorizing U. S. bases in Japan for at least another 10 years.

"I don't like Ike," said one sign. Others read "Kishi, quit," "Death by hanging for Kishi," "Ike, don't come" and "Parliament resign."

The student demonstration was the curtain-raiser for a weekend of turmoil planned by Japan's left wing.

Transport unions prepare a giant tieup of public transportation Saturday, Sohyo, the leftist labor federation, ordered member unions to stop train, bus and taxi service for an hour during the morning rush.

The demonstrators, with vociferous backing from Chinese Communist official broadcasts, are trying to pressure Kishi into dissolving Parliament before ratification of the treaty becomes final June 19, and to postpone Eisenhower's visit.

New Red Bid Seen Aim To Split Allies

U.S. Officials Point To Latest Disarm Plan Of Khrushchev

WASHINGTON (AP) — A new Soviet bid to split the Western allies was seen by officials here today in Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev's latest disarmament plan.

Khrushchev proposed that the means of delivering nuclear weapons—such as rockets, airplanes, submarines, warships and artillery—should be abolished at the very outset of any agreed disarmament program.

Khrushchev said he was making the offer because of the interest of other countries, notably France, in attacking the problem of nuclear disarmament by controlling the means of delivery.

State Department and other U.S. officials are studying the detailed plan. But on first reading they have found no real hope, it was reported, for breaking the East-West disarmament deadlock in a conference resuming at Geneva next Tuesday.

At the same time there is considerable uncertainty and some concern here over the Soviet Union's latest move in nuclear test talks under way in another Geneva conference. In this negotiation the Soviet Union appeared Thursday to be backing away from an earlier show of willingness to join with the United States and Britain in the scientific study of ways to detect small underground nuclear explosions.

Western leaders have thought that the talks on prohibiting nuclear weapons testing under an international inspection system offered the best opportunity for initial agreement with the Soviet Union on one disarmament problem.

But in Geneva Thursday, the Soviet delegate repudiated a Soviet scientific group's offer to cooperate by conducting a series of non-nuclear underground explosions in the Soviet Union. He also demanded a right to inspect in detail every nuclear device to be used in a corresponding U.S. non-military test program.

Officials said that in the main Khrushchev's latest proposals appeared to be a reshuffling of the earlier Soviet plan.

The newest version proposes concentrating at the very outset on major measures of nuclear arms control. Under Western plans the procedure has called for a delayed start on major measures pending the development of confidence among nations and the elaborate system of international inspectors.

Within the Western camp, however, the French government of President Charles de Gaulle has stressed what it considers the importance of controlling nuclear weapons delivery systems. De Gaulle urged this view upon President Eisenhower when he came to Washington earlier this year. Eisenhower was understood at the time to have agreed that this offered one means of control, but only one means.

Drifting Tank Truck Forces Car Into 2nd

An oil company's tank truck drifted from a parking place on the Walnut St. grade Thursday afternoon, striking a New York man's auto which was halted in an E. 3rd St. traffic lane and shoving it into the parked car of a Chester man, police reported. No one was injured.

The truck of the Hays Oil Co. of E. 5th St. and Broadway coasted away from its parking spot about 3:54, apparently because of failure of the air brakes, and struck a halted 1960 auto driven by Jose R. Gattoni, 36, of Buffalo, officers said. Gattoni's car was shoved into a parked 1958 four-door owned by Ronald E. Bonnell of Laurel Heights, Chester.

The tanker truck had been parked by Ralph H. Funk, 43, of Park Way. The collision damaged the left front fender and bumper of the truck, the left rear of Gattoni's car and the rear bumper of the Bonnell auto, officers said.

Salem Youth Cycles Into Path Of Auto

LISBON — A Salem area youth was injured when he turned his bicycle into the path of an approaching auto Thursday night in one of three area mishaps reported yesterday by the State Highway Patrol.

Timothy Boughton, 10, of Salem R. D. 1 suffered a fractured right leg and arm and back injuries when struck by the car operated by French Webb, 30, of Salem on Depot Rd. a half mile south of Salem at 6:20 p. m.

Son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Boughton, the boy is in "fairly good" condition today at Salem City Hospital.

Minor damage resulted in a side-swiping between 2 cars on Route 14 a half mile east of the intersection with Route 7.

Sylvester Dyke, 15, of Columbiana R. D. 2, headed east, made a left turn into a private drive just as a car, operated by Robert Stephens, 40, of Girard, attempted to pass.

James Blair, 49, of Akron and Dorothy Miller, 47, of Franklin Square Rd., Leontonia, were cited after a collision on Route 45 at the intersection with Route 344 between Lisbon and Salem.

The girl, headed south, made a left turn as Blair passed her auto at the intersection. He was cited for passing at an intersection, and

New Blast At President

Khrushchev Claims It's 'Dangerous' To Have Ike Head U.S.

Would Be First Hit In War

Abandon Foreign Bases, Mr. K Demands Of U.S.

MOSCOW (AP) — Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev, renewing his demand for the United States to abandon its overseas military bases, said today that countries playing host to U.S. forces would be the first ones hit if war breaks out.

He made the statement at a Kremlin news conference called to give details of a revised version of his "general and complete" disarmament plan unveiled at the United Nations last year.

Liquidation of U.S. bases abroad has been a major objective of Soviet foreign policy for years.

Khrushchev said his rocket troop commander now has authority to mount a nuclear attack against the bases if new spy plane flights over the Soviet Union take off from them.

In addition to reshuffling priorities in his disarmament plan, he included a new provision—destruction of the rockets, submarines, airplanes and other means for delivering nuclear weapons in an attack. This plan was first advanced by France.

"If the cold war becomes hot," Khrushchev said, "the first blow will be struck against those countries which play host to U.S. bases."

Soviet Defense Minister Rodion Malinovsky disclosed Monday that Soviet rocket crews have been ordered to fire at any foreign base from which further spy flights are launched over the Soviet Union.

Today Khrushchev said Marshal M. I. Nedelin, commander of Soviet rocket troops, had been given the authority to use nuclear warheads in the rockets.

Westerners here were shocked by this. In the United States only the president has the authority to launch a nuclear attack.

Discussing a detailed new Soviet disarmament proposal made public Thursday night, Khrushchev told a news conference in the Kremlin that abolition of all types of carriers of nuclear weapons would constitute a firm guarantee against surprise attacks.

"on the prevention of which there has been so much talk in the United States of late."

Khrushchev in effect said that after disarmament was accomplished, the Soviet Union would join in an "open skies" plan of aerial surveillance such as President Eisenhower has recommended.

"When disarmament measures are implemented," he declared, "there will hardly be any objections to flying over the territories of countries with the object of photographing any points from any altitude. For then no one could use the data obtained to the detriment of the security of any state."

"Eisenhower, Herter, Dillon and company — and especially Nixon — could then fly over any part of the Soviet territory they wanted to. And we would wave to them from below. Then the flights would not be a threat to the security of the Soviet Union."

Eisenhower, however, recom-

Confidence Also Lacking With Nixon

Asserts Eisenhower Presidency Is Dark Period In History

MOSCOW (AP) — Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev, renewing his efforts to discredit President Eisenhower, said today it is dangerous to have such a man heading a great nation.

And he indicated the Soviet Union could have little confidence in Richard M. Nixon as a working partner of the Soviet Union.

The Premier declared the Eisenhower presidency is a dark period in history, with the President lacking in will power.

He pictured Eisenhower—whom he met and praised last fall in the United States—as virtually a stooge for John Foster Dulles at the 1955 summit meeting. Then the Premier indirectly continued his recent criticism of Vice President Nixon by saying:

"We were not so badly off in Dulles' time because he did so many foolish things it made it easier for us. . . . From that point of view I suppose that Nixon is the best choice for us (for U.S. president). Of course it would be better for us if we had a wise partner, but if not, that is the American peoples' business and they will be the ones to suffer."

Khrushchev made these remarks at a news conference, attended by 400 reporters in the Kremlin. It was called primarily to give the Soviet leader a chance to outline his new disarmament program. But he ranged widely in his comments and answers to questions.

He got a laugh with this remark:

"When the President is no longer president, the best job we could offer him here would be as head of a children's home. We are sure he would not harm children."

"But to have such a man as the head of a great nation is dangerous," he added when the laughter died down.

"President Eisenhower is completely lacking in will power," he said, "but that does not excuse him" for not exercising authority over such men as Nixon and Secretary of State Christian A. Herter. The Premier declared these two are leading the United States along a path which could bring a new war.

In the absence of world disarmament, he said, the Soviet Union is ready to retaliate with nuclear weapons against anyone who sends spy planes over the Soviet Union like last month's American U2 reconnaissance plane.

He said Marshal M. I. Nedelin, head of Soviet rocket troops, had been given direct authority to

Salsberry's Hearing Waits Barnes' Release

A Municipal Court hearing is tentatively Monday for Robert Salsberry, 34, of 208 W. 7th St., in connection with a struggle over a gun May 8 at the Travelers Hotel in which he and a hotel clerk was wounded, but the case will have to be continued again if the second wounded man is not released from City Hospital in the meantime.

Salsberry faces a charge of assault with a deadly weapon as an aftermath of the incident in which he was shot in the groin and Albert Barnes, 65, of 506 Sugar St., suffered a gunshot wound of the left hand and other injuries.

The charge against Salsberry was filed May 10 by Lt. Mike Winters. Later, Judge Samuel M. Chertoff fixed a tentative hearing date to await Barnes' release from the hospital. City Hospital said Barnes' condition today is "good."

Actors-Producers Dispute Closes Broadway Shows

NEW YORK (AP) — The Broadway stage is blacked out for the first time in 41 years, a victim of a bitter dispute between actors and producers.

In the midtown theatrical district Thursday night, as the 8:30 curtain time came and went, there were no blazing lights on

These Productions Affected By Blackout

NEW YORK (AP) — Here are the Broadway stage productions affected by the blackout:

Musicals—Bye Bye Birdie, Dearly Rides Again, Fiorello!, Finian's Rainbow, Gypsy, La Plume de la Tante, My Fair Lady, Once Upon a Mattress, Take Me Along, The Music Man, The Sound of Music, and West Side Story.

Dramas — A Raisin in the Sun, Duel of Angels, Five Finger Exercise, The Andersonville Trial, The Miracle Worker, The Tenth Man, and Toys in the Attic.

theater marquees, no surging crowds of pedestrians, no swarms of taxicabs jockeying to get their fares to the playhouses.

"There will be absolutely no shows until there is an agreement," said producer Alexander H. Cohen, speaking for the New York League of Theaters.

"Actors equity is on strike," he added. "It looks like a long one to me."

Equity claims it is a lockout, not a strike. The union climaxed its pension-wage battle with producers on Wednesday night when it called the cast of "The Tenth Man" to a meeting at union headquarters just before curtain time.

The producers, in line with their warning against "hit-run" tactics by Equity, shut all 22 Broadway shows.

Negotiations were scheduled to resume today, but neither side appeared hopeful.

A proposal Thursday by Mayor Robert F. Wagner for a city fact-finding board was okayed by Equity, but the league turned it down.

Thrown out of work were 1,000 actors and 5,000 theatrical technicians such as stagehands, musicians and electricians.

The movie houses in the Broadway show area are not affected by the shutdown. Also unaffected are current road shows, summer

Showers Will Hold Off Until After Sunday

Tri-State residents "rained out" of their first summer outing Memorial Day may try again this weekend — the weatherman said no more rain is likely until Monday. And daytime temperatures will continue warm.

Dam 8 at Newell recorded a balmy high of 84 Thursday and an overnight low of 64 this morning. Today's high will be less warm with a range of 73 to 78 seen and tonight's low will be somewhat cooler with 50 to 55 due.

The five-day forecast indicates there will be one-half to three-quarters of an inch of rain in scattered showers occurring mostly after Sunday. The trend will be a little cooler after Monday.

A mist-like rain last night represented 0.02 inch of precipitation, the dam said.

Canada's Chief Due Today For Official Visit

Private Talks With Ike Will Highlight Stay Of 21 Hours

WASHINGTON (AP) — Canada's prime minister, John G. Diefenbaker, arrives in Washington today for a 21-hour state visit highlighted by an afternoon of private talks with President Eisenhower.

With U. S.-Canadian relations in good repair these days, the two chiefs were expected to concentrate on common problems facing both countries because of the current international situation.

Eisenhower was reported planning to brief Diefenbaker, as he has other Allies, on the summit conference failure and the resulting dimmer prospects for dealing with the Reds.

Diefenbaker was said to be especially interested in pushing for an East-West disarmament agreement. Canada and the United States are on the 10-nation committee slated to renew disarmament talks in Geneva next week.

The Canadian visit topped off a busy week diplomatically in the U. S. capital. Thursday night the eight members of the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization finished a three-day meeting attended by premiers and foreign ministers.

In a final communique, the SEATO powers affirmed their firm unity of purpose "to meet all forms of Communist threat to the peace and security of the treaty area."

This was a reference to Communist China, whose post-summit tactics were of prime interest to the SEATO strategists.

However the defense group took no united stand on the disputed question of whether to recognize the Peiping regime or admit it to the United Nations. A spokesman said the delegates decided each of the Allies should be free to take its own position. The other members are Britain, France, the Philippines, Australia, Thailand and Pakistan.

The Hancock County Grand Jury reconvened this morning in the Courthouse in New Cumberland, apparently to clear up old cases at the request of Prosecuting Atty. Frank A. Pietranton. Judge J. Harold Brennan is presiding.

Written Test, Eye Exam Due For New Drivers

All new area drivers will be required to take a written test and eye examination before receiving an Ohio learner's permit under a new regulation of the Department of Highway Safety, which goes into effect Monday.

The preliminary examination must be certified by the State Highway examiner at Lisbon before any prospective driver can obtain a learner's permit from any deputy auto registrar.

The test for temporary permits will include all parts of the complete examination heretofore given to drivers except the driving test. It will include a written test on traffic laws and highway signs and a check on each person's vision and obvious physical state.

The tests will be given at the patrol examination station at 205 W. Lincoln Way, Lisbon. They will be given at the designated hours between 8 a. m. and 5 p. m. and no appointments will be needed, according to initial plans.

Road tests for those seeking regular operator's licenses will continue to be made by appointment, however.

Temporary permits are valid for six months for learners who must be accompanied by licensed drivers.

Under the new system, deputy registrars will issue the temporary permits to beginning drivers, those whose license has expired more than six months and out-of-state drivers seeking an Ohio license only after the driver has completed the preliminary examination and has certification from the Patrol examiner.

Director J. Grant Keys of the Department of Highway Safety said the system is an extension of an experimental procedure that has been in effect in 10 central Ohio

Chester Republicans To Plan For Election

Final plans for the Chester city election Tuesday will be made at a meeting of Republicans tonight at 7:30 at the party headquarters.

All GOP candidates are invited to attend, Lawrence Cline, chairman, said.

Councilman James E. Waggle, Blaine Pinney and Earl Davidson, Waggle is after re-election to the Third Ward seat which he has held for three years.

Pinney, 39, of Indiana Ave., a Crucible Steel Co. employee, is seeking the Second Ward seat.

Earl Davidson, 46, of Florida Ave., foreman at the Taylor Smith & Taylor Co., is after the Fourth Ward post.

Sample ballots for some of the Council candidates were to be distributed today or Saturday.

Herman Gower, baker and unsuccessful candidate for the Republican nomination for mayor or previously announced he will seek write-in votes for the post.

Listed candidates for mayor are Alvin B. Clutter, 38, Democrat, a Weirton Steel Co. employee, and Ray L. Collins, 38, Republican, a Crucible Steel Co. worker.

Incumbent Mayor Burton Ward today denied rumors that he is seeking re-election as a write-in candidate. The mayor reported he had heard rumors that he was running, but he labeled them false.

Pinney said he is not making any campaign for the post, but will accept it if elected. He said he is interested in municipal affairs, and believes some changes should be made from "an economic standpoint."

Waggle also said he is not campaigning.

County Leases Rights To Coal

County Commissioners Thursday renewed a lease which has been in effect since 1935 granting the right to mine coal on the County Home farm property.

The lease was granted again to Mrs. Mary A. Dunn of Salem, Mrs. Florence Hay of Chicago and the heirs of the late Ross Bryan. It is the third lease signed by the county with the same individuals. It calls for payment of $150 a year, plus a royalty of 10 cents a ton if any coal ever is mined. But it stipulates the coal cannot be stripped or removed through an open pit.

The expired lease called for payment of $100 a year and 8 cents a ton royalty. Officials said removal of the coal is unlikely in the foreseeable future because of the comparatively high cost of deep mining.

In other business, authorization was given Robert Bycroft, county welfare director, and Mrs. Pheobe George, Mrs. Goldie Kidder and Mrs. Elinore Howard, case workers, to attend a study course June 12-17 at Western Reserve University in Cleveland on welfare problems. The estimated cost is $375.

Kenneth Bell, county auditor, was granted $100 to attend the State Auditor's association summer meeting at Cedar Point June 22-25.

Commissioners also set the terms of the new County Welfare Advisory Board, including Atty. Guy Mauro of Salem, one year; George Farrall of East Liverpool, two years; Mrs. Kay Blackburn of Columbiana, three years; Robert Taggart of Wellsville, four years; Mrs. Herbert Hanna of Winona, five years; Miss Alice Herriott of East Palestine, six years; George Seederly of Columbiana, seven years, and Mrs. Mary Anderson of Salem, eight years. Juvenile Judge Louis Tobin is automatically a member of the new group.

Terms of any new member or those on the board who may be re-appointed will be for eight years.

use nuclear bombs in rockets to strike back at bases from which any new spy planes take off. This was an elaboration of Defense Minister Malinovsky's strike-back order announced Monday.

The grant of authority to Nedel in came as a shock to Westerners here. In the United States, only the president has authority to order a nuclear attack.

Khrushchev opened the news conference by reading in a monotone a preliminary disarmament statement digesting the text he had delivered to all countries Thursday in a series of notes.

He said he had planned to present the plan at the Paris summit conference.

Khrushchev said the Soviet Union would join in an open skies system only "when disarmament measures are implemented."

First of all, Khrushchev called for abolition of foreign military bases, a ban on launching "special devices" into outer space, a ban on transmission of nuclear weapon information to other nations and a curb on warships sailing outside their country's waters.

This would mean a special ban on the means of delivering nuclear weapons—rockets, submarines and so forth. This plan was first advanced by France.

This would be monitored by international "on-the-spot control." Reduction of armed forces and destruction of nuclear stockpiles would come in the second stage, and an end to all war material in the third.

The control organization, Khrushchev said, would be set up within the framework of the United Nations—and that would mean the Soviet Union would keep its veto power.

There are about 15,000 accidental shooting casualties in the United States every year. This includes 2,500 fatalities, and about half of these occur in the home.

Also Denies Buying Rifle

Hargrove Says Not Near Clark's On Murder Night

PAINESVILLE, Ohio (AP) — Floyd E. Hargrove told a jury Thursday he was nowhere near the home of Charles R. Clark last Christmas Eve when Clark was slain by a bullet fired through a kitchen window.

He also denied buying a .22-caliber rifle in Chardon the day before the slaying. The prosecution contends Hargrove bought the gun used to kill Clark at a Chardon hardware store on Dec. 23 and signed the name Robert G. McClaren to the purchase card.

The handsome 35-year-old delivery truck driver testified before a packed Lake County Common Pleas Court room that he confessed to the slaying of Clark for fear police would give to the newspapers details of his intimacies with Clark's wife, Lois.

"They told me that if I didn't confess, they'd drag her name through the mud of Lake County and she and her children would be finished forever," he said.

"Did your examiners refer to so-called abnormal love relations between you and Mrs. Clark?" asked Robert L. Simmons, a defense attorney.

"Yes," the defendant replied. "They said if I confessed they would not be brought out."

"What was it they were referring to, Floyd?" Simmons asked.

After several moments of silence with his hands clinched to the witness chair, Hargrove replied: "They were referring to a mutual exchange between two people who loved each other sincerely. But the way they referred to it made it appear cheap and dirty. It wasn't."

He said he and Mrs. Clark had carried on a love affair from April to December last year, seeing each other three or four times a week during that period. Sometimes the meetings were at his apartment and sometimes they were at the Clark home, he added.

Mrs. Clark, 31, a former fashion model, gave similar testimony as a prosecution witness earlier in the trial, which started May 16.

Hargrove said he had reason to believe last September that he was the father of an unborn child of Mrs. Clark and the two went to a doctor friend, who gave her a prescription. She lost the baby a week later, he added.

He testified that on the night of the slaying he had dinner at the home of John Ozinga Jr. here, leaving there about 6:30 p.m. He said he then went to Euclid to take some Christmas presents to his children, stopping en route to visit some former neighbors in Willoughby.

Hargrove's oral confession made Dec. 26 was discounted by authorities after a lie-detector test showed there were discrepancies in his story following his release from jail after the lie test, he said he confessed to save Mrs. Clark from further embarrassment.

He was arrested on a first-degree murder charge in Toledo Jan. 1, after authorities said they were told that he had purchased a rifle the day before Clark was killed.

Leetonia District Man Suffers Rifle Wound

Harold Little, 22, of Leetonia R. D. 1 is in "fair" condition today at Salem City Hospital, where he was taken Thursday at 11:44 p.m. after he was wounded by a .22-caliber rifle bullet.

The bullet entered the left side of the abdomen and emerged through the back, according to hospital authorities. Deputy James Gause of Hanoverton made the investigation after being notified by the hospital.

Air Force Fancy In Ground-To-Air Missile Testing

EGLIN AIR FORCE BASE, Fla. (AP)—The Air Force is getting fancy in its ground-to-air missile tests.

A Bomarc-A interceptor missile was put on the trail of a target over the Gulf of Mexico Thursday, but just as the missile was about to make its kill, it was switched by remote control. A second Bomarc was launched and intercepted the target.

It was the 9th and 10th consecutive successful launchings of the Bomarc-A missiles from Santa Rosa in the past three months.

The Army claimed a first for its Redstone missile at White Sands Missile Range, N.M.

The combat-ready rocket, carrying a flying television station, successfully traversed the longest overland trajectory ever attempted in the United States.

The airborne TV camera transmitted pictures of the target area to receiving stations more than 100 miles away, the longest transmission yet attempted by the RCA-designed system.

Army spokesmen said the TV camera operated perfectly for the third time in as many tests at White Sands.

If We Could Reach The Russians

Everything that spokesmen for the Soviet Union say about its military security is tied up with one false assumption:

That the United States intends to attack Russia.

This is what made the U2 incident useful to the men in the Kremlin; they called the flight of a reconnaissance plane over Russian territory an act of aggression and said the plane might have been delivering a hydrogen bomb.

This is what started the post-World-War-II armament race and has kept it going — the Russian assumption that U.S. attack is imminent and our reaction that Russian armament must be matched for the sake of our own security.

Yet the universally known fact is that the United States could not be an aggressor. Even Castro in Cuba knows he can say or do anything that comes to his fevered mind without risking U.S. military retaliation.

Canada and Mexico, on the borders of the United States, have no fear of attack. Latin American governments, which like to thunder against the Colossus of the North, know their security from attack is guaranteed by the American principle that war is tolerable only for defense.

YET THE ENTIRE world has been kept on edge for more than a decade by the Kremlin's supposition that attack is the motive for U.S. military spending, though every government on earth — including the government of the Soviet Union — knows the United States cannot commit aggression. It girded itself across the grain of every American precept, even if Constitutional provision for making Congress responsible for going to war did not exist.

It is inconceivable that the hordes of Russian operatives who have made it their business to know everything about the United States have not reported this to their government. It is just as inconceivable that the shrewd men who make policy for the Russian government do not realize why it is so; that in a nation whose sovereign power is the people, themselves, there can be no military aggression.

People do not go to war against each other. Only governments do that, knowing that national pride will cause most of the people to back them in even an unpopular war.

IF AMERICANS could reach Russians directly with this message, they could make more impact than could be made if there were a summit conference every day and twice on Tuesdays.

It would cancel the effect of the Russian government's fear-mongering among its own people. It might even tone down some of the wild statements of government officials.

The United States cannot attack. That is the basis of every foreign policy in the world today — probably including Russia's, too. But only Russia and Cuba go out of their way to deny what both know to be a fact.

Every Man Runs His Own Race

It is no reflection on any of the other Democrats who might be nominated for president by their party in July to acknowledge that Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson now is making his move with that special brand of verve that comes from experience.

Watching him step out of the relative obscurity of his position as majority leader of the Senate into direct contention for the Democratic nomination is like watching a professional ballplayer rattle a pitcher with a long lead off 1st base. The Texan has the sure touch.

Perhaps the most skillful thing Sen. Johnson has done to bring favorable attention to himself as a presidential possibility is to let Adlai Stevenson, Sen. John Kennedy of Massachusetts and Sen. Stuart Symington of Missouri bracket themselves together in hasty and, in Stevenson's case, sharp criticism of President Eisenhower over the Paris Summit fiasco. Sen. Johnson kept his mouth shut until it was time to say he had no wish to help Premier Khrushchev undermine the executive leadership of the United States.

"He is the only man who can deal with Mr. Khrushchev as our spokesman," explained Sen. Johnson as he wound up a six-state tour of western states early this week. That wrapped up his position on the U2 incident, which he believes should be examined, as Sen. Fulbright is trying to examine it as chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee—as an experience in national affairs that Congress needs to inquire into on a non-partisan basis.

Sen. Johnson is the principal Democratic image of the "old pro" in politics—the man who has mastered the "art of the possible." Each of the contenders for the nomination must run his own race for the nomination in his own way. Now that Sen. Johnson is making his move, though he has not declared so far that this is what he is doing, he is assured of the same thoughtful attention that has been given to the contenders who made their moves first.

He is leaving no room for doubt of his ability to make his mark in this respect. The Scripps-Howard newspapers, 19 in number, have declared their belief that he is the ablest and strongest of the Democratic candidates and their choice, therefore, for the Democratic nomination for president.

British Have A Name For It

Prime Minister Macmillan, who was just as flabbergasted by the collapse of the summit theory of diplomacy as President Eisenhower or President De Gaulle, is still insisting that "detente" is the correct policy under the circumstances.

"Detente"—what is it?

The word is common in diplomacy. The British, whose Foreign Office is credited with having forgotten more about diplomacy than most governments can hope to learn, are masters of the psychology of detente.

In its simplest meaning, it is a policy of relaxation. The psychology is to reach agreement through confidence, after it has been proved impossible to reach agreement through pressure. It is the "soft sell" in diplomatic relations.

As applied to the problem of the Soviet Union and the difficulty of reaching understanding with a government that permits only the dictator to reach agreements, detente calls for taking the pressure off Premier Khrushchev, the current dictator symbol in the Kremlin.

As Prime Minister Macmillan has insisted throughout, only a summit conference can make Khrushchev available to other heads of state. Therefore, only a summit conference is worth arranging.

The American notion of returning to routine diplomatic relations through ambassadors and envoys, as far as the British are concerned, denies the reality of the problem presented by the Soviet Union to other governments desirous of reaching agreements with the Kremlin.

Hence "detente." The word is diplomatic jargon for relaxation. It describes the theory that more flies can be caught with sugar than vinegar—that the "soft sell" will show the best results in the long pull.

U.S. Sets Goal On Outer Space

By Victor Riesel

Victor Riesel

Soon you won't know the stars without a program. If everything blasts off on schedule, the government will hurtle 263 space vehicles into the outer universe in the next decade. This program is scheduled to cost at least 15 billion dollars. Some experts say it may run as high as three billion a year.

These are peace time projects. They'll create sufficient jobs to keep the nation almost fully employed and prosperous.

We don't know yet what new metals we'll drag out of the sky or what new businesses will boom around weather controls hung in the heavens or what will come out of flash transportation by huge cargo rockets which go "beam riding" across the world. But we do know that already there is a fantastic space industry here on earth.

Already private industry is making "road maps" for space travel. Already there are designs for "life boats" which can hang in the vacuum of the inner and outer solar systems.

SPACE SUITS have been produced. Practical space "refrigerators" and even a 120-pound machine which can supply oxygen endlessly in the grim outer emptiness are being developed.

This isn't a Hollywood script. Recently Ralph Cordner, chairman of the board of the General Electric Co., reported to a university group:

"Already we are seeing the growth of novel planning organizations made up of physical and social scientists, engineers, financial experts and professional managers.

"Their whole output consists of ideas, forecasts and evaluation of future possibilities. Such planning organizations are already in being in other companies besides GE."

It is GE's Missile and Space Vehicle Dept. in Philadelphia which is developing the space suit. This is a device which the astronaut could put on and seal around him before leaving the space craft in an emergency.

THE ROCKETEER could use it to work on the outside of his space vehicle or on an airless planet. It contains an air supply system, a walkie-talkie mechanism and "temperature control elements." It could last just a few hours. So GE has been building a space life raft.

This is a "chest-like container fitted with an air and water system, food, solar energy converters and a signal generator.

"In an emergency, the space man lies in it, pulls the lid closed and closes the latch. This action initiates operation of the ecological cycle, starts automatic May Day broadcasting and ejects the life raft from the space craft."

Now they are working on a life boat to carry several men. This would have a propulsion system.

Obviously new machinery, new plants, new skills will be required in this newest of industries.

For example, GE scientists are developing a special refrigerator which can preserve food in space ships for long trips. About nine pounds of supplies are needed for the daily nutritional requirements of one man, say the scientists.

HOW LONG will they be away? A government scientist, during a briefing, told me that only human duration was the limit. There are as many stars in the sky as there are grains of sand on all the beaches of the world. They have solar systems such as ours.

"Therefore the odds are that not only is there life out there, but somewhere there is life like ours," the scientist said.

"We are now monitoring the celestial static to see if there is any pattern to this sound. Then if any outer space intelligence is discovered—and I believe it will be—we'll beam in on it. And then we'll go on out into further space from there."

Eventually all this will require a vastly different work force than the present—and the swifter we begin planning to retrain our workers the more prosperous the land will be.

Dear Nephew: Your aunt and I went to the high school commencement exercises last night. It didn't say so on the program but five members of the 28-member class of 1960 were married—four classmates and one girl to a boy from another school. I don't know whether he is a 1960 graduate or not. But I do know one could have been married for a year and a half, and your aunt tells me that in the case of the above-mentioned girl the bouffant graduation dress was a blessing.

This is only high school. It's worse in college. You'd think the way children are getting married we were living in Asia where the threat of starvation makes families want to thin out dependents as quickly as possible. In America there's no threat of starvation, and I wonder what makes our kids so anxious to hang their toothbrushes side by side.

I don't get it. Kids used to pretend they were grownups and "keep house" for fun. Today, they "keep house" for real before they're old enough to vote. Papa dangles his first-born on his knee while studying for examinations. Mama does the housekeeping in her spare time, because she has to get out and work so Papa can learn to be a breadwinner on her time. It's a goofy arrangement.

It seems to me the kids are so afraid they'll miss something because some loonik might push the blast button tomorrow morning they are living on a crash basis. They get married too soon, get tied down too soon with children and debts and are deeply involved in the problems of boredom at an age when people used to be still tippy-toeing among the tulips, if you know what I mean. They're in too much of a hurry.

Instead of being skittish about the prospect of giving up their independence for a place in double harness, they can't wait to ditch "single blessedness." It won't surprise me if married couples show up in elementary schools soon. If we are going to go into child marriages like the other savages we may well go whole hog. You can be sure the kiddies will have no objection, from what I hear through my spies, stoolies and pollsters.

But here again, your aunt and I are disqualified as trained observers because we raised no children of our own. Our part in raising you doesn't count, because we were under supervision all the time.

Still and all, we recall that three or four times you overjoyed us with announcements that you were going to get married—the first time I recall, when you were only 10. We entered into the spirit of the thing wholeheartedly and convinced you that you weren't dry behind the ears. I remember the thing that used to bring you up short was asking how you would support your missus, it being the rule in those times that a husband was obligated to feed and clothe his life companion, also to keep a roof over her head. You had no answer, and that was always the end of the discussion.

We overdid it, perhaps. But even so, you weren't approaching middle age when you finally figured you had a job steady enough to justify marriage provided both of you pitched in to underwrite the expense. At least you didn't have to ask your wife for money to buy lollipops.

That has been changed now, and I don't think the change is for the better. This will mark me as a bitter old fud as far as teen-age married couples are concerned. Your Aunt Effie agrees with me for once, however, so that makes two of us.

We do not congratulate children who get married, either voluntarily or involuntarily. We extend sympathy. They've loused up their lives. They've lost their youth due to befuddlement that may not be their fault but is surely darkening their prospects for long-term happiness.

Forgive me for being out of sorts. I know it's June and everybody should be happy. But when I think of child marriages in the good old U.S.A., I'm sad.

New Light On Adlai

Interview On Foreign Policy Changes Verified

To what extent has Nikita Khrushchev been encouraged by prominent Democrats in this country to believe that it is no longer worth while to negotiate with President Eisenhower because a Democratic administration is coming into power next January, when presumably things would be easier for the Soviets?

This question may become as important as the one the Democrats have raised in blaming the President for the collapse of the summit conference.

In fact, Adlai Stevenson was quoted in an interview published in Paris on the eve of the conference as promising that major changes in foreign policy would come after the November elections in this country.

Mr. Stevenson at first denied that he gave the interview to the Paris newspaperman, Robert Boulay but the next day he admitted it and said the French visitor at his home wasn't very good with his English and doubtless misinterpreted what was said.

THE SENATE recently had a spirited debate over what was supposed to have been said by Mr. Stevenson in the same interview.

This correspondent published the Stevenson denials but now is in receipt of a letter from Howard N. Fowler, managing editor of the "Mansfield (Mass.) News," which throws new light on the controversy.

He writes: "Robert Boulay was in the United States on a tour arranged by Mr. William Hadley, Jr., of the Governmental Affairs Institute, Washington.

"As a former Mansfieldian, Hadley is an acquaintance of mine. He asked if I would host Boulay for a few days to enable the visitor to get a little of the flavor of small-town American grass roots. I accepted.

"Be assured, Boulay does speak fluent English, although this was his first visit to the United States. He lived in my home four days, was introduced to many of my friends and was found to be a most interesting and articulate fellow at a small dinner which I hosted.

"Almost instantly upon his arrival at Boston's Logan Airfield, Boulay expressed grave concern over an interview he had with Adlai Stevenson. He repeated to me many times this concern.

"First, he was concerned because, in effect, Stevenson had said to Boulay, 'This is off the record,' and in the same interview, commented, 'I'm not telling you anything I haven't said a thousand times before.'

"The enclosed copy of our

'News' has a brief reference to Boulay's concern.

"Boulay told several of us here that he asked Stevenson if he could foresee change in American foreign policy. Boulay reported that Stevenson said without hesitation, 'Drastic change.'

"Boulay said he pressed Stevenson for amplification. Stevenson said he would gradually withdraw American troops from Germany.

"Stevenson told Boulay, or plainly inferred, that he is not averse to compromise with Russia and concessions in the nuclear field.

"In the short time Boulay was in Mansfield, during which he dined one evening with me, a ranking lawyer, a New England business executive, a greenhouse operator, a radio station president and others, he left the impression of being a very serious-minded chap, well educated, very well read, unusually conversant with world affairs, and very much disturbed by what Stevenson said.

"As he left my home for the ride to Boston for his departure, he continued to ask, 'What can I do?' and he continued: 'If I print what Stevenson said to me, I could stir great concern in France; it would be bad, perhaps.'

"If I am a fair judge of newsmen, after 40 years' service myself, Boulay is a dedicated reporter who very likely heard what Adlai had to say with complete understanding."

THE APRIL 21 issue of the "Mansfield News" quoted Boulay as saying he had important information which he was forced to "sit on" because of his off-the-record pledge with Stevenson.

When Boulay got to Paris, he evidently made up his mind that, just as American senators and representatives often "leak" to the press information from confidential off-the-record sessions and justify this as being "in the public interest," he would do the same.

So the Paris-Press published the interview in detail and Nikita Khrushchev read it before the Paris conference began.

In fact, he paraphrased one of the quotations in a speech he delivered a few days later.

The Kremlin has for many months been given to understand by leading Democrats in this country, through their published utterances, that if a Democratic administration comes into power, things will be better for the Moscow regime.

What the Kremlin doesn't understand, however, is that all this is largely just partisan politics and that, if the Democrats do win the presidency, their foreign policy probably will not differ much from that of the preceding administration.

It does illustrate perhaps the lack of "coordination" among the Democratic leaders just now and their faulty sense of "timing" as they continue to harp on their own government's alleged mistakes in the U2 incident.

Khrushchev Butting In

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON
The Soviets — meaning Premier Nikita Khrushchev — are sticking their noses right into the middle of the American presidential election campaign.

Khrushchev has said repeatedly he wouldn't, even if he could, butt into the election. But he has done it repeatedly.

He did it again as Thursday — in a letter to four Democratic leaders — by blasting the Eisenhower administration and Vice President Richard M. Nixon, the most likely Republican presidential candidate.

Every four years the American voters choose a president according to traditional and well-known reasons: His political party, his social and economic views, his manner, his judgment, his record, if any.

A candidate's ability to deal with some head of a foreign government on a face-to-face basis has never been a factor.

But Khrushchev by his tactics now is forcing voters to do some thinking about a problem he is pushing high into their consciousness: How would a candidate deal with Khrushchev? Would he be tough? Soft? Firm?

It would be easy to conclude, from what Khrushchev has already said, that he wants the Republicans to lose the election. For example:

1. He blames the Eisenhower administration for wrecking the summit conference.

2. He doesn't want another conference until after the election, which means he doesn't want another one with President Eisenhower.

3. He links Nixon directly into his blame on the Eisenhower administration for the summit collapse.

4. And he has ridiculed Nixon. When he heard Eisenhower might let Nixon sit in for him for a while at the summit conference — this was before it started — Khrushchev hooted at the idea by saying:

That would be like "sending the goat to take care of the cabbage."

In his letter Thursday he made Nixon part of what he called a "whole chain of acts" on the part of the Eisenhower administration leading up to the summit fiasco.

David Lawrence

The Once Over

Ike spent an hour in an old country store and it must have given him a lift to be where he could ask for something without a conference and get it without a denunciation, an epithet or a charge of aggressive intent.

It brought back memories of the day when a coffee grinder was a symbol of engineering skill and when anything on a shelf seven feet high was "practically in orbit."

A general store is symbolic of an era when pushbutton was scientific dream, electronics had something to do with the trolley car and the nearest thing to automation was the proprietor opening a barrel of flour with a claw hammer unassisted.

Such a store reeks with neighborliness, peace and coexistence, all, of which can be experienced in a simple search for home-made horseradish, a pound of tub butter, some sassafras root, a bottle of vanilla extract, a pair of woolen socks, a can of kerosene oil, a china egg for the hen house, a stick of peppermint, some blood remedies, a shaving mug and a pair of button shoes.

In a country store you wonder if "scientific instrumentation" is found in a pot-belly stove. An agenda is a grocery list including the notations, "Don't forget a bone for the dog," "See if the rhubarb is in season" and "remember to get a new buckle for the horse collar."

If anybody ever spoke of a summit meeting it meant a trip uphill to look for a lost cow.

By H. I. Phillips

An aggressor was for generations a horsefly buzzing around a meat counter. Reconnaissance was a trip to the back room to see if the cat was near the codfish boxes.

A guided missile was a crock of cider falling off a shelf. Rockets were for the Fourth of July. The initials IBM meant One Barrel of Molasses.

Nobody was ever in a sweat or a temper. The only disturbance came if the proprietor raised the price of an apple pie from a dime.

The general store was wonderful. The Pennsylvania one gave Ike a badly needed comfort. If there were more of 'em today there would be no problem of coexistence, except with a customer who hogged the seat near the iron stove or pounded too hard on the cracker barrel.

KHRUSHCHEV SNEERS at Ike's love of golf. He can't understand a game in which players ahead are not aggressors if they fail to get out of the way.

And can see no sense in any proceeding in which it is not legitimate for a hotheaded member of a businessmen's four-some to arrive on the tee two days ahead of time and call the match off because one member got curious about the clubs in a golf bag.

A woman took off her shoe to pound a bus driver who didn't stop where she wanted to get off. She was arrested but we think a court should give her a pardon and a spare shoe for use in harrowing moments on buses.

Disarm

mended international aerial surveillance of all countries to prevent surprise attack before disarmament.

Khrushchev said he had planned to submit his new disarmament plan to the summit conference in Paris but "unfortunately the United States administration by its provocative actions wrecked the summit meeting." Instead, the proposals were handed Thursday to all ambassadors in Moscow and circulated to all delegations at the United Nations.

The new disarmament proposal was basically pegged to the plan

Khrushchev proposed to the United Nations last September—but the stages in carrying out disarmament were in general reversed. Its provisions for a control organization also were considerably more detailed than previous Soviet disarmament proposals.

The original Soviet plan called for first scaling down armed forces and conventional arms, with disbandment of all armed forces and liquidation of foreign military bases in the second stage and finally abolition of nuclear weapons.

The Soviets emphasized in their new version they were adopting proposals advanced by other powers—notably France—that a beginning be made by wiping out the means of delivering nuclear weapons.

The first stage also called for elimination of nuclear weapons from the arsenals of nations and discontinuance of their manufacture.

The Soviets suggested that the first stage of the disarmament be carried out in approximately a year or 18 months under international "On-the-spot control."

Beaver Grand Jury's Session Nearing End

The Beaver County Grand Jury was expected to windup today and trials of those indicted this week will start Monday.

Among true bills returned was one against Wallace Stevens of Midland, charged with adultery and bastardy. The case of Robert Williams of East Liverpool, charged with neglect and nonsupport of children, was continued.

Harry Dawson and Eli McCullough, both of Midland, charged with liquor violation, did not come before the Grand Jury because they entered pleas of guilty. Their sentencing may be next Wednesday.

Crash Blocks Traffic And Disrupts Phones

LISBON — Route 30 traffic was blocked and telephone service disrupted when a car driven by a Burton area man smashed into a utility pole, knocking it across the highway with dangling wires this morning at 8:30.

Richard C. Beeler, 37, of Burton R. D. 3 was treated by a physician for a laceration of the eye received when his auto hit the Ohio Bell Telephone Co. pole on the Canton Hill about a half mile west.

Traffic was blocked until about 10:30 because of the pole and wires, according to the State Highway Patrol. A passenger in Beeler's car apparently was unhurt.

Only a few phone subscribers were affected.

Beeler was taken to County

Judge James MacDonald's court where he posted a $25 bond for a hearing on a charge of reckless operation.

2 Women Injured In Salineville Mishap

Two women were injured when their car veered off a bridge at the entrance of the Salineville village dump this morning about 10:20 and landed upsidedown in a small creek.

The emergency room at City Hospital identified the pair as Betty Nichols of Cleveland and Alberta Wyke of Salineville.

The two were taken to City Hospital by Kerr's ambulance.

One woman was up to her neck in the waters when Chief Deputy Sheriff James Miller and Theodore Kellogg of Jefferson St., Salineville, arrived at the scene to pull them out.

The dump is located just east of Salineville along Route 39. Police Chief Cleo Mellott said they were driving into the dump when the mishap occurred.

The poet Ralph Waldo Emerson was also a minister in the Unitarian Church.

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Readers: A blizzard of complaining letters is blowing in from all over the country. Many readers disagree with the advice I gave the mother whose 16-year-old daughter receives $40 a month from her deceased father's estate.

The mother has remarried and has four other children. She stated the stepfather is having a hard time making ends meet. She doesn't know if it's right to use the girl's $40 a month for necessities for the entire family.

I reminded the mother that the money was not left to the family—it was left to the daughter—and I suggested it be put away for the girl's college education.

My advice still stands. However, here are some dissenting views from readers who have presented well-reasoned arguments against my position. They deserve to be heard.—ANN LANDERS.

The Other Side

Dear Ann: I usually agree with you but I think you're way off the beam on your advice to the mother of the 16-year-old girl regarding the $40 a month.

I say the stepfather should use that money to support the girl. After all, that's what it was left for, isn't it?

The mother said they were having a hard time financially. Although $40 a month is a drop in the bucket toward total support of a 16-year-old, it would help some.—RICHMOND, VA.

Dear Ann: You are wrong. If the stepfather wanted the $40 a month to pay for a third Cadillac,

I'd say no—but it was stated clearly that the money would come in handy as there are four other children.

Why should the four kids have to share what they have with this stepfather, while she gets to put away her $40 a month for a college education? —LITTLE ROCK, ARK.

Dear Ann: If you're going to get so ding-dam technical about the $40-a-month inheritance, I say the girl should then buy her own clothes, do her own laundry and pay her stepdad a quarter for every load of washing she does in his machine.

She should also pay him for room and board, electricity and heat. If he drives her to school she should pay him the same amount as she'd pay a bus driver. How commercial can you get? —HUTCHINSON, KAN.

Dear Ann: The stepfather doesn't owe this girl anything. He married her mother. I think it's stupid of the mother to make an issue of the $40 inheritance. She should fork it right over to the old man.

If you'd let the average 16-year-old girl today decide what to do with $40 a month she'd buy bobby pins, records, popcorn and eyebrow pencil with it.—PITTSBURGH.

Dear Ann: I'm in exactly the same spot as the mother who wrote to you—only my daughter is 14.

The girl gets the same privileges of the home and enjoys the comforts provided for her the same as the rest of the children. She doesn't get any less than her step-sisters nor does she get any more.

The $40 left to her is used to help run the house. And let me tell you, it doesn't go very far.—PORT HURON, MICH.

Dear Ann: What difference does it make whose money it is legally? The girl has a moral obligation to share "her" $10 with the rest of the family. Period.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Cub Pack Visits Bakery After Hike To Chester

Some 35 members of Cut Scout Pack 7 of St. Aloysius Parochial School hiked to Goddard's Bakery at Chester Wednesday afternoon.

Supervisors for the tour were Thomas Bowen, Alfred Bowen, John Higgins and Esther Cowles.

They were accompanied by Marvin Moore, cubmaster; Alfred Gloeckner, pack chairman; David Gloeckner, explorer; Mrs. Pearl Capraruolo, Mrs. Mary Musuraca, Mrs. Florence Gloeckner and Mrs. Maxine Ward, den mothers, and Don Ward and Jack Ward, den chiefs.

10 Communities Due 25.3% Cut In Gas Rates

CONNEAUT, Ohio (AP)—Ten communities in northeastern Ohio will receive a 25.3 per cent cut in gas rates under a new five-year contract with the East Ohio Gas Co. This was announced Thursday by Robert W. Ramsdell, president of the firm, who said greater use of gas in Ashtabula County makes the reduction possible.

The lower rates will benefit some 15,850 residential and commercial users of natural gas in Ashtabula, Conneaut, Jefferson, Geneva, Lakeville, Geneva on the Lake, Madison, North Kingsville, Perry and North Perry. The rate reduction will be the second since East Ohio acquired facilities of the Lake Shore Gas Co. in this area three years ago.

3 Overcome By Gas Fumes At Pool Site

WAPAKONETA, Ohio (AP)—A teacher, a custodian, and a 1960 graduate at Blume High School were overcome by chlorine gas Thursday as they readied a school swimming pool for its opening. Officials said a leaking valve allowed fumes to accumulate in the basement of the pool's bathhouse.

Recovering after treatment at a Lima hospital are William Sells, 29, industrial arts teacher, Howard Zerkel, 56, custodian, and David Hicks, 17, who was graduated Tuesday.

Alliance Youth Drowns

ALLIANCE, Ohio (AP)—An 18-year-old Alliance youth drowned Thursday in Berlin Reservoir about four miles northeast of here.

The victim, Richard Greene, had been swimming with his brother, Gerald, 19. The body, found in 15 feet of water about 35 feet from shore, was recovered by two U.S. Army engineers stationed at the reservoir.

Here's Status Of Some Bills In Congress

WASHINGTON (AP) — Here is the status of some of the top bills now pending in Congress:

School Aid — The Senate Thursday voted—and later rescinded the action—to send its aid to education bill to conference with the House. Majority Leader Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex.) asked for the delay because he had promised Sen. Richard B. Russell (D-Ga.) the action would not be taken without notifying him.

International Development — The Senate Thursday night passed a bill authorizing U.S. membership in a proposed billion-dollar International Development Assn. to help underdeveloped nations. Similar legislation was approved earlier by the House Banking Committee.

Color Additives — The House Commerce Committee Thursday recommended a bill to ban for human use any food, cosmetic or drug colors that can produce cancer in test animals. This ban—opposed by the color industry—already applies to all other kinds of food additives.

Categorical, Dogmatic

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The Board of Education is both categorical and dogmatic in its feelings about animal shows. It turned down, without dissent, requests to use a school gymnasium for cat and dog shows.

Berry Pickers To Get 6 Cents

LISBON — Strawberry pickers in the Columbiana-Mahoning area will get 6 cents a quart and 7 cents for raspberries, according to growers who attended the annual twilight meeting Thursday at the Steve Korode and Harold Thompson farms near Gavers.

Fifty-five members from the two counties also inspected the 30 varieties of strawberries on the Korode farm and then proceeded to the Thompson farm for an equipment demonstration in straw spreading in the berry fields.

Robert Partyka, extension plant pathologist at Ohio State University, discussed strawberry diseases and their control and Elda Banta, extension horticulturist, spoke on strawberry culture which benefits the growers.

Strawberry prospects look good but the harvest will be somewhat late due to adverse weather conditions during the spring, growers said.

Historians Offered Old County Records

LISBON—The Columbiana County Historical Society has been offered an opportunity to search through old county records to find any it wishes to salvage before the balance is destroyed.

The old records from the offices of the clerk of courts, recorder and probate court are stacked in the basement of the Courthouse. After the Historical Society makes its search Monday to determine which should be retained, the balance will be disposed of.

All the old records have been microfilmed for permanent storage, which means the balance can be disposed of to conserve space, according to Mrs. Ruth Wining, clerk of the records commission.

Democrats Quick To Challenge

Mr. K May Have Handed Republicans Political Gift

WASHINGTON (AP) — Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev may have handed Republicans a political gift by saying the present U.S. government doesn't want to improve relations with the Soviet Union.

But some Democrats were quick to challenge his criticism of President Eisenhower and his implication that the Soviet Union might be better able to deal with the different government.

Khrushchev's letter to the four Democratic leaders made public Thursday said the Eisenhower administration follows a "doctrine of aggression and provocation" which "was not created by the American people."

Not many Americans are likely to agree with Khrushchev's charges of aggression and provocation. Politicians generally believe the voters' instinctive reaction will be to rally behind a President they think is being maligned far beyond anything justified.

How much this sort of feeling can be transferred to Vice President Richard M. Nixon, the expected GOP presidential nominee, remains to be seen.

But Nixon already has taken steps aimed at identifying himself as the man best equipped to stand up to Khrushchev in the international struggle that lies ahead.

This represents something of a quick shift from the Republican pre-summit position that the President—and his heir apparent for the party nomination—were qualified by experience to lead the Free World toward some satisfactory accommodation with the Soviet Union.

Since the summit collapse any course of this kind involves the risk of being labeled as appeasement, an ugly word with which neither party wants to be tabbed.

Democrats such as Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas have shown their awareness of what Khrushchev's references to his dislike for "the present government of the U.S.A." might do to them if left unchallenged.

He told the Senate Thursday that Khrushchev was trying to divide the American people, but wouldn't be able to do it.

Johnson was one of the leaders to whom Khrushchev addressed his letter. It was in reply to a cable which Johnson, House Speaker Sam Rayburn (D-Tex.), Adlai E. Stevenson and Chairman J. William Fulbright (D-Ark.) of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee sent to Ike in Paris for relay to the Soviet leader May 17. In it they cautioned Khrushchev not to sink the Paris conference because of any hope that he might find a new U.S. administration more tractable.

Rep. Hays Makes Comment

Support For Sen. Johnson Seen In Ohio's Delegation

By JAMES B. SIBBISON
WASHINGTON (AP) — Support for Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex.) is beginning to appear in the Ohio delegation to the Democratic national convention.

It's true, of course, that the Ohioans are pledged to vote first for Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.) for the party's presidential nomination.

But one of the delegates, Rep. Wayne L. Hays (D-Ohio), an enthusiastic Johnson man, says Johnson would get 20 of the 64 Ohio votes if Kennedy were out of the competition.

Another delegate, Rep. Charles

A. Vanik (D-Ohio), doesn't agree with that at all.

Vanik, in fact, goes further. In a separate interview, he said that while he admires Johnson as a Senate leader, he believes the Texas would be wholly unacceptable to Negroes in the North.

Johnson, Vanik said, is from a state that has known only prosperity and he just doesn't understand the problems in the northern urban areas.

Himself a congressman from a district with a heavy Negro population, Vanik said:

"The Democratic Party can't afford to lose this Negro support to (Vice President) Richard Nixon." Hays doesn't agree with that point of view. In fact, he says that after Johnson made a speech in his district, in East Liverpool, Negroes told him it was the best they had heard.

That speech by Johnson, by the way, was made just a few weeks ago, and he hauled a whole plane-load of Washington reporters along with him to hear it.

At a news conference in connection with the occasion, Hays made pretty much of a point of saying that, once his obligation to Kennedy had been fulfilled, he was going to go for Johnson.

An interesting sidelight to this was a full-page advertisement a few days ago in the Washington Post.

The advertisement was an open communication to Johnson praising him as a great man destined to be president. Among the signers were Mary McGowan of Akron and Don Gosney of Columbiana, Ohio.

Miss McGowan is a political leader in Akron, but Gosney is both a Kennedy delegate and top staff man for Rep. Wayne Hays. "He consulted with me beforehand," Hays explained. "All I told him was: 'You're on your own.' He was speaking only for himself."

May's Weather Had Chilly Spell And Cloudy Skies

Cloudy skies and cool temperatures marked the weather in May, according to Edwin Copeland of Millport, U. S. weather observer, in his monthly summary.

The temperature last month averaged 55.7 degrees over 2 degrees under the normal 57.9 for the month in Copeland's 65-year records.

Rainfall amounted to 4.93 inches—1 1/4 inches over the normal 3.43, he said.

Precipitation for the first 5 months of the year is now 13.58 inches, more than an inch behind the normal 14.82 inches, Copeland pointed out.

The temperatures ranged from 82 degrees on May 20 to 24 degrees on May 2. There were 12 clear days, 15 cloudy days and 4 partly cloudy days.

Sunshine totaled only 45 per cent, well under the customary 65 per cent for the month.

"Last month's above-normal rain helped the wheat, barley and hay crops and also improved the oats crop which got a poor start because of the small amount of rain in April," Copeland said.

"Farmers are looking now for some higher temperatures and drier weather."

Problem Created By Barron

Democrats' Decision Due On 3 Leaders In One City

CHARLESTON (AP)—The Democratic Party was going to decide today whether it can afford to have three of its most important state figures from the same city.

The Democratic State Executive Committee had the decision to make at its meeting this afternoon in the House of Delegates Chamber. The problem it had to deal with was created by the winning of the party nomination for governor by W. W. Barron, the attorney general.

Barron is from Elkins over in the northeastern part of the state. So are Sen. Jennings Randolph and National Committeewoman Mrs. Nunley B. Snedegar.

It is Mrs. Snedegar whose position was placed in jeopardy by the coincidence. A political party is reluctant to concentrate its biggest names. Spreading them around is believed to mean more votes.

Whether Mrs. Snedegar went or stayed, despite the presumed handicap, depended on the executive committee. Its members choose the national committee woman, as well as the national committee man and their own chairman.

John E. Amos of Charleston was expected to be re-elected Democratic national committeeman without opposition. It was the same situation with Hulett C. Smith of Beckley as chairman.

Mrs. Mary Hart Davison of Weston has been mentioned frequently as a possible successor to Mrs. Snedegar.

The Republican State Executive Committee is holding its meeting tomorrow. The place will be the Kanawha Hotel.

The choice of a national committeewoman, as with the Democrats, may not be cut and dried. Mrs. Perle T. Harman of Bluefield could have opposition for reelection from Mrs. Frederick P. Becker of Fairmont.

Republican National Committeeman Walter S. Hallanan is expected to get his ninth straight term, and Chairman Daniel L. Louchery of Clarksburg to stay on.

Each of the executive committees is made up of 67 members. Sixty four of them were elected in the primary, four from each senatorial district. These pick the three members at large.

Harold Kelly Re-Elected Head Of Free Methodists' School

During an annual election Wednesday evening, Harold Kelly was named superintendent of the Oakland Free Methodist Sunday School for the seventh consecutive year.

The Sunday School average attendance has increased almost 40 per cent under his direction, church officials said.

Other officers include Miss Margaret Kelly, treasurer; Harry Johnston, assistant treasurer, and Lee Johnston, auditor. Elected stewards were Mrs. Margaret Atkinson, Mrs. Fern Cowser, Mrs. Josephine Richardson, Mrs. Una Kelly, Mrs. Mae Rutter, Mrs. Shirley Muschweck and Mrs. Pearl Simms.

$3 Million Distributed

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Another three million dollars in gasoline excise taxes has been distributed to Ohio municipalities. State Auditor James A. Rhodes reported. The distribution for highway purposes was the eighth during the bookkeeping year ending this month, and sent the total for such funds past the 23 1/2 million dollar mark.

Major cities received these sums in the latest distribution: Cleveland $336,761; Columbus $198,894; Cincinnati $195,905; Toledo $139,978; Akron $133,713; Dayton $118,342; Youngstown $75,670, and Canton $49,597. Fairview (Belmont County) received the smallest amount in this distribution—$6.

Man, 23, Drowns

Degrees Due 2,300

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—About 2,300 seniors and graduate students will receive degrees at Ohio State University's 3rd spring quarter commencement Friday, June 10. Masters' degrees will be conferred on about 244 students, while 87 graduates will receive doctor of philosophy degrees. Of the professional school graduates, 136 will receive degrees in medicine, 107 in dentistry, 62 in law and 62 in veterinary medicine.

Ohio State President Novice G. G. Fawcett will deliver the commencement address. The program will be held at 9 a.m. in Ohio Stadium, weather permitting. Otherwise it will be moved into St. John Arena.

Williams Backs Kennedy

By The Associated Press
Sen. John F. Kennedy's endorsement by Michigan Gov. G. Mennen Williams held the center of the political stage today, but a Midwest foray by Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York seemed likely to draw the limelight back toward the Republicans.

Williams, who heads a 51-vote convention delegation, announced his support of Kennedy Thursday after a cordial chat with the Massachusetts presidential contender at Mackinac Island.

Williams' action does not bind the Michigan delegation, but seems likely to swing it solidly into Kennedy's corner. Not counting the 51 Michigan votes, an unofficial Associated Press tally gave Kennedy 334½ committed convention votes, out of the 761 needed for nomination.

Rockefeller flies to Fargo, N.D., today to start two days of arm belt stumping for Gov. John E. Davis, Republican candidate for the Senate in a special June 28 election.

Rockefeller recently declared he's still available if the Republican convention wants to draft him as its presidential candidate. But at the same time he said he doesn't expect it to happen. Vice President Richard M. Nixon is otherwise unopposed for the top spot.

Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, who has been running without saying he's a candidate, was put squarely in the contest Thursday by House Speaker Sam Rayburn and other friends. They announced formation of a Citizens for Johnson movement with Johnson's approval.

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey (D-Minn.), who bowed out of the presidential sweepstakes after Kennedy drubbed him in the West Virginia primary, made clear Thursday his presidential choice now is Adlai E. Stevenson.

In a telegram to Stevenson, Humphrey praised him for his speech in Chicago this week setting forth a five point "grand strategy for peace."

Humphrey added: "When are you going to make a direct move for the nomination? Many people are waiting."

Stevenson has made no overt effort to get the nomination he had twice before, but remains available for a draft.

Another Democratic aspirant, Sen. Stuart Symington of Missouri, said Thursday at Fresno, Calif., that Stevenson is "beginning to act like a candidate" in his recent statements and speeches on foreign affairs.

Symington wound up a four day expedition into California, where he and other Democrats have been prospecting for support in the state's 81-vote delegation. Gov. Edmund G. Brown is California's favorite son candidate, and so far has avoided leaving one way or the other among the major candidates.

"You know a
for this?"

It's a question we answer all the time. Sometimes it's someone new in the neighborhood. Sometimes it's an old friend who just doesn't happen to have a family physician. The boy sprains an ankle... the baby runs a temperature... Grandma has a bad cough. Troubled people often turn to us for help, and rightly so. We work closely with physicians, providing the medicines they prescribe and use in their offices. We know who they are, their specialties, their office hours. In an emergency we're good people to ask. And we're always happy to be of service to our friends and patrons.

Sacco-Vanzetti Case Slated On TV Tonight

"The Sacco-Vanzetti Story," a two-part drama around the sensational trial of the two radicals in the 1920's will start to unfold on NBC-TV at 8:30 EDT to night.

It was written by Reginald Rose who wrote "Twelve Angry Men," another courtroom drama that went on to fame and fortune in the movies, and will be directed by Sidney Lumet who also directed "Twelve Angry Men."

Sacco and Vanzetti were executed for the murder of a payroll guard after a seven-year fight to free them.

"You ask," said Mr. Rose, "if I think this show bears any resemblance to the case of Caryl Chessman."

"The whole issue in the Chessman case was the abolition of capital punishment and this has nothing to do with the Sacco-Vanzetti case. The issue in their case was whether they were guilty of murder or guilty because they were radicals, socialists, anarchists."

SACCO AND VANZETTI were arrested and tried during a period of hysteria against radicalism in the United States. Since then, bombs have been sent through the mail and everyone with a foreign accent or foreign ways was under suspicion as a revolutionary.

"I didn't know very much about the case when I began the research," Rose admits. "I didn't even know who had been murdered. Now I think Sacco and Vanzetti were not guilty. But I hope I am not biased."

"There was no attempt to make editorial comment in the TV program. The viewer will decide for himself. It's a terribly strong script and I say some pretty strong things."

"Part 1 shows the facts of the case, ending with the trial. Part 2 deals with why they were executed."

"THEY WERE intelligent, lovely, gentle people. I agreed to do the show because what it has to say in terms of history is boiled down into one quote from Albert Einstein we've used in the play: 'Everything should be done to keep alive the tragic affair of Sacco and Vanzetti in the conscience of mankind. They remind us of the fact that even the most perfectly planned democratic institutions are no better than the people whose instruments they are.'"

Rose said he thought the show might be useful as a lesson from the past for the present.

"It is not until years later that reason begins to prevail," he said. "Sacco and Vanzetti were killed in 1927. Now we can look back on it with some detachment. It is valuable to be able to look back in history and say: here we went wrong and here we were right."

EVEN AFTER all these years Sacco and Vanzetti still are fighting words in some quarters, especially in Boston where one columnist has asked that his readers write the sponsor and protest. But both the manufacturer, who has sponsored some excellent and controversial shows in the past, and NBC are standing fast and Rose declared himself to be "amazed and delighted about the whole thing."

"The direction and the acting are amazing," he said. "This is my first experience where there has been no interference by sponsor or agency. I would like to meet the sponsor. Even on 'Playhouse 90' there was annoying nonsense from the agency. I have never heard a word from anyone at this sponsor's firm."

ROSE GOT OFF the subject of television and on to some of his other pet peeves: the movies and Broadway:

"I hate working for the movies. I did two pictures, 'A Man of the West' with that great American actor, Gary Cooper, and 'The Man in the Net' with that other great actor, Alan Ladd."

"I'm very bitter about the whole experience I had making movies. I'd only make another if it were my own script or if I were co-producer. Movies are worse than ever. But I love them."

On the subject of the stage, Rose had some cutting and true observations about the state of Broadway:

"I never have written anything I couldn't get on television. There is a far worse censorship on Broadway which says if you ain't got a star or a name director you can't put on a play."

"On Broadway they're solely concerned with money and economics, which is a far more crippling censorship than saying dirty words on the air."

Cole Selected For New Post With UOVDC

Robert M. Cole, cashier of the Citizens Banking Co. at Salineville, has been appointed to represent his community on the Board of Directors of the Upper Ohio Valley Development Council, Ralph R. Betts of Barnesville, president of the six-county organization, announced today.

Cole was one of four new community representatives selected by Betts. Others are: Dan Swaney of Weirton, Franklin Stewart of Bellaire and Dr. David Ross of Bethany.

Cole resides at 196 E. Main St., Salineville. For five consecutive years—1955-59—he headed the annual March of Dimes drive at Salineville. He is a member of the Southern Local School District Board of Education and past president of the Ruritan Club. A native of Carrollton, he has resided in Salineville six years. Married, he has two sons, 11 and 6.

Betts also announced that Keith Swenson, a student at Carnegie Tech and a member of the firm, Planning Consultants, at Pittsburgh has been selected to prepare a special regional plan for the UOVDC area. Swenson's suggestions will be used to show the area's citizens and public officials "the urgent need for long-range comprehensive community and county land use plans," Betts said.

"The Upper Ohio Valley is blessed with many natural resources and advantages important to industrial growth," the UOVDC president said. "We are sure these assets will continue to help our region prosper. However we are concerned that in years to come our growth will be limited by a shortage of good industrial sites. Only through wise utilization of our land can we be sure of having available space for future industrial expansion."

2 Die In Train-Car Crashes; Damage In One Is $750,000

BOWLING-GREEN, Ohio (AP) —Wood County recorded two train-motor vehicle crashes Thursday. Two men were killed and damage in one of the crashes was estimated at $750,000.

In the first, and most spectacular accident, Edward Slotter of Chillicothe, Ill., was killed when his tractor-trailer rig slammed into the second unit of a New York Central freight train engine.

Twenty-one of the train's cars and two of its engine's units were derailed in the wreck. Officials said it would be afternoon today before the U.S. 6 crossing near Woodside was cleared. None of the train crew was injured.

NYC officials said it would be three days before rail traffic could move over that section of the line. Engineer Don Ingram of Bellefontaine said flashers at the crossing were working.

Theodore Kennedy, 56, of Genoa, was fatally injured Thursday night when his auto was struck by a southbound freight about three miles south of Toledo.

The victim's car was thrown under the engine of another train standing a few feet from the crossing. Kennedy was pinned in the wreckage for a time until freed with cutting torches. He died later in a hospital. There were no flashers at this crossing.

He Wasn't Driving, Just Playing Guitar

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Yes, conceded Frank Landeros, he was behind the wheel when police halted his car.

But, he said, he wasn't driving. "I was playing the guitar," he said, "and singing."

His buddy, seated next to him, was steering. Landeros explained at his arraignment Thursday on a drunken driving charge.

The judge shook his head and placed the case on calendar for trial.

Preparations For Gay Family Reunion End When 4 Drown

VALLEY MILLS, Tex. (AP) — Plans for a gay family reunion ended Thursday when four young people playing in the cool waters of the Bosque River on a hot spring day drowned. They tumbled over a waterfall.

They drowned at a YMCA camp about 4 1/2 miles northeast of this small central Texas town.

The victims were Kenneth W. Spoons, 18, his wife, Juanita, 17, his sister, Joyce, 16, all from Waco, Tex., and Lula Spradley, 15, a cousin of Oklahoma City.

Mrs. R. C. Spoons, about 40, of Waco, the mother of two of the victims, watched helplessly from a spot 20 feet up a steep trail beside the stream.

The group went to the picturesque site to inspect it as a possible location for a family reunion in August. The camp had not opened for the season.

"They were just wading when one of the children got too near the edge and slipped over the waterfall," Mrs. Spoons told Valley Mills Mayor C. P. Hardwick.

Husband Held For Court On Knife Charge

After a lengthy hearing Thursday in Municipal Court, John J. Staherek, 321 E. 9th St., was bound over to the Grand Jury under $1,500 bond by Judge Samuel M. Chertoff in connection with an alleged knife threat to a city policeman called to the defendant's home May 22 after a domestic disturbance.

Staherek was charged with assault with a deadly weapon in an affidavit filed by Patrolman Milton L. Fowler. The officer testified Staherek obtained a kitchen knife and threatened him after Fowler had placed the husband under arrest on a disorderly conduct charge.

Staherek did not take the stand in his own defense at the preliminary hearing, which the local court held only to determine if there was "probable cause" to hold him for further investigation of the charge of the Grand Jury. Fowler was the only prosecution witness. Following his testimony, Atty. Bernard Fineman was granted a 30-minute recess. Then he moved for dismissal of the charge, but was overruled by Judge Chertoff.

Atty. Fineman and Asst. Solicitor Richard J. Clark, who prosecuted for the state, gave two final arguments — one summing up their cases and another on the defense motion for dismissal.

The judge ruled that the policeman was not "an illegal intruder" in the home — although the arrest was made without a warrant — because he was admitted to the house by the defendant's wife. He commended Fowler's handling of the case and termed it "a case of good judgment" that wound up without injury to either the defendant or the officer.

The judge also ruled that under the state law it is not necessary to prove the defendant hit or struck the complaining witness in such a case.

Staherek also faces charges of intoxication and resisting arrest growing out of the same set of circumstances. On a motion by the assistant solicitor, both charges were continued pending the outcome of the charge referred to the Grand Jury.

Civil War Group To Display, Fire Cannons, Rifles

A demonstration of Civil War muskets and cannons will be given by the Chartiers Valley Guards, a group of Pittsburgh men interested in the history of the war, at Fort Tuscarora, a historical museum near Guilford Lake, Sunday afternoon at 2.

The guards, who wear Civil War uniforms and equipment, will parade, fire muskets, meet modern sharpshooters in a match, and fire Civil War cannon with reduced charges.

The guards' unit was originally formed in 1861 after a call for volunteers, and fought in a number of battles up to 1864. Some of the current members are descendants of the original soldiers.

They are members of the North-South Skirmish Association which holds encampments throughout the nation, and took part in a meeting at Fort Lee, Va., in May.

The program has been arranged by Tom Pike, operator of Fort Tuscarora, in commemorating the anniversary of the war. Admission will be charged.

Kiwanis Hears Former International President

Charles Donley of Pittsburgh, past president of Kiwanis International, spoke at a meeting of the Kiwanis Club Thursday at the Travelers Hotel.

Donley, who headed the service organization in 1941-42 and who is currently head of the church support committee, spoke on the work of the church unit and the Kiwanis youth aid projects.

He also aired the proposal to extend the organization into Mexico. Donley was introduced by Russ Heddleston.

About 43 attended the meeting at which William Porter, president, was in charge. A color film on a plane trip to Hawaii was screened by Jud English.

Bringing Up A Family

By GARRY C. MEYERS

Affection Can Be Expressed Many Ways

A mother often writes me of a child, boy or girl, who seems to spurn affection. Usually there's another child in the family who bids for and gets copious affection.

By Garry Meyer.

I doubt whether there's any child who doesn't crave affection. What makes the mother think he doesn't is that he doesn't want her kind of expression of affection: he does not want to be hugged or kissed or called by endearing names. These expressions may suggest to him he is much younger than he is, or that he is like a craving - for - affection brother or sister he feels jealous of and doesn't wish to emulate.

An Ohio mother writes of two children, four and six:

"THE YOUNGER one is very affectionate. She is a very lovable child. The older, however, is not only not affectionate, but would rather we didn't even kiss her good night, let alone any other time."

"What is the reason for this?"

"Can children be taught to love?"

"Telling people to love is one thing, but teaching them is quite another. If she can be taught, please help me to help her. I want nothing for my children but happiness and no one can be happy if they can't love. I don't want her growing up to be a cold, frigid woman."

My reply in part:

It's not strange that your older daughter doesn't want kisses and caresses, since her baby sister gets them so often and enjoys them so much. But this is no proof the older daughter doesn't crave affection. She just doesn't want that kind.

I ADVISE THAT you and Dad quit offering to hug or kiss this girl, though not refusing to do so in private, if she bids for it.

There are thousands of more enduring ways to show this child affection — expressing pleasure and enthusiasm over what she makes or does, celebrating her successes, listening eagerly to what she wishes to tell you, explaining things to her, answering her questions kindly, helping her attract playmates of her age to your home and have good times with them, going places with her only and having companionable times with her; speaking to her in quiet tones, smiling often as you do, even laughing heartily with her at times.

Through such instances you don't teach her to be affectionate, you set the stage so she can't keep from enjoying and returning affection.

My bulletins, "Preventing and Reducing Jealousy" and "A Parent's Prayer," may be had by sending a self-addressed, stamped envelope to me in care of this newspaper.

Baseball's Shenanigans . . .

Some of the oldtime baseball players would roll over in their graves if they knew of the shenanigans that are going on in the major leagues today.

This week two more incidents occurred, one being the Piersall-Veek feud and the other was the mobbing of the New York Yankee's Mickey Mantle.

The Piersall-Veek battle was amusing. It reminds us of two little children who can't get along while playing a game in their backyard.

It seems Bill Veek bought a dandy new score board and put it out in his big yard (Comiskey Park). It shoots off rockets, has a siren in it and makes all types of noises when the White Sox are doing the right thing.

One day young Jimmy Piersall strolled into this yard, didn't like the noise that the scoreboard was making and threw a baseball at it.

Billy got mad at Jimmy and told him he'd better not do that again or he would shoot him to the moon from his rocket launching scoreboard.

Veek made the statement that Piersall can clown all he wants to but leave the scoreboard alone.

The strange thing about the scoreboard is that it actually keeps score.

Piersall can be expected to do anything and usually does. The other day in Detroit he shoved a can of insect spray in his hip pocket, strolled to centerfield and in between pitches sprayed his area clear of insects.

THERE were two versions to the Mickey Mantle-mob story. A gang of youngsters — and they weren't all youngsters — rushed Mantle and attempted to grab his cap as a souvenir, but at the same time elbows, hands and arms were flying and Mickey ended up with a sprained jaw.

Several parents of the youngsters who rushed Mantle called Yankee Stadium and complained the Yankee centerfielder had struck their children.

Mantle told reporters "I knew I was in trouble immediately, as I saw those kids — and all of them weren't kids — pour out of the left field seats. I knew I could outrun them to the bench, but there wasn't anything I could do about those coming from the other direction. They met me at second base."

"They say I knocked down the first one to reach me—a 12-year old kid. That's wrong I yelled at the first one to get out of the way and he shied off. Then about six of them hit me at once."

"I didn't punch anybody but I ran into plenty of them."

During the same melee a youngster hit umpire Joe Paparella, who had come in from centerfield with Mantle, with a handful of dirt as he started in the clubhouse.

It's Easy To Pick A Winner . . .

IT'S EASY to pick a winner at Waterford Park with all the "hot tips" floating around.

Take the other day for instance. You arrive at Waterford, step out of your car and question a parking lot attendant about a "sure thing." He takes a peak at his program and says the No. 2 horse can't miss.

Not satisfied, but seeking a consensus of opinion, you run into an usher and pop the same question. The usher smiles and says: "I think the No. 5 horse will win it."

Wandering under the grandstand you drop by a concession stand and question one of the clerks. The clerk leans over the counter and in low tones says: "My friend over in the barn says the No. 3 horse is a sure thing."

Before you can get away from the concession stand a good friend of yours appears on the scene. Your friend just happens to be a cousin of a jockey's agent and he has some "inside information" on the No. 4 horse, because the agent's jockey is riding the horse and is expected to run away with the race.

In the space of five minutes you have four "hot tips" — not bad for a beginner.

But wait, on the bottom of the program are the selections and the handicapper has picked the No. 1 horse. Now more confused than ever, you look at "jack's yellow card" which you purchased outside and his blue plate special is the No. 6 horse.

That just about does it since there are only six horses in the race. What are you going to do, bet all six of them? No, you are right back where you started before you arrived at the races. So see, you have a lot of help in picking a winner.

THE BEST we heard during the opening week at Waterford Park came from a dissatisfied bettor.

The bettor said "my horse left the gate at 10-1 and didn't come in until 3-15."

Little League 'Tag Day' . . .

THE EAST LIVERPOOL Little League will hold its annual "tag day" Saturday and we hope the sports-minded citizens of East Liverpool, Chester and Newell will again dig down and give the Little League a lift.

It is pointed out by Little League officials that it costs $29.02 to suit one boy.

A total of 264 boys participate in the Little League program. All officers, managers and coaches donate their time and are not paid.

The only way the Little League program operates is by collections, the annual tag day, sponsors fees and donations from individuals and business places.

The league also ran into some new expenses this year when a new field was constructed in La-Croft.

BOB MCCOY, all-around athlete at ELHS who went on to captain the Army basketball team at West Point, is in town with his course record of 31 set in 1951 by Floyd Stansberry of East Liverpool. His performance gave him his lowest score ever and it also was the lowest this year for the Highland links.

WADE WATTS, former coach at ELHS, who was one of two remaining candidates for the Monessen (Pa.) High football job, lost out to Joe Gladys, who had been an assistant at Monessen and also attended high school there.

ROGERS' score compares with the course record of 31 set in 1951 by Floyd Stansberry of East Liverpool. His performance gave him

Meyer Seeks Release After 'Excessive' Fine

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Pitcher Jack Meyer, charging the Philadelphia Phillies kicked him when he was down by fining him 15 days' pay or "more than $1,000" for a fracas, has asked for his outright release to join some other club.

In reply to Meyer's request, General Manager John Quinn said Thursday night: "We're not even entertaining that."

Meyer, 23, the winningest pitcher on the Phillies roster thus far with a 3-1 mark, said he expected to be fined for the fracas last Saturday night in a Pittsburgh hotel room but he was angry over what he called the excessive amount.

It was one of the largest fines in modern day baseball, according to Meyer's figuring.

"I assume anybody would be angry," countered Quinn when told that Meyer's remark was in reference to the fact that he is in Jefferson Hospital with a herniated back disc and has been placed on the disabled list for 30 days.

"Meyer fined himself" Quinn declared, "by his actions off the field."

Neither Meyer nor Quinn would say just what happened or who was involved.

Football, Cage Jobs Divided At Salineville

Dividing of the football and basketball coaching jobs at Salineville High School — held for over four years by Dick Jones — was authorized by the Southern Local Board of Education at a special meeting Thursday night.

The board indicated the double job was too much work for Jones who will serve as basketball coach next year. Applications for the football post will be received at the next meeting June 20.

Pittsburgh's Stock Jumps As Giants Lose

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Can the Los Angeles Dodgers, who rocketed from seventh place to the world championship, now be headed for a flop from the top back to seventh? Only one National League club has suffered such a collapse—the 1917 Dodgers, the old Brooklyn bunch.

The champs, three games below .500, plunked to sixth place Thursday night with a 10-8 belting from Chicago's Cubs, now just two games behind Los Angeles.

St. Louis hustled into fifth, winning two in a row on the road for the first time this season with a 4-3 victory over San Francisco. That dropped the second place Giants two games behind idle Pittsburgh.

Milwaukee clung to third place

by beating the last place Phillies 9-8.

In the American League, Baltimore retained a 2½ game edge by beating New York 6-5. Second place Cleveland defeated Kansas City 7-6 and Chicago's third place White Sox lost 4-3 at Detroit.

Washington moved from eighth to seventh in a switch with Boston, beating the Red Sox 8-3 and 8-7 in 10 innings in a doubleheader.

Every club but the White Sox chipped in on an 18 home run total that tied an AL record for five games set in 1933. And 12 homers in the NL matched the two-league eight-game high of 30 set in 1950.

The Cubs and Dodgers clouted half of the NL's dozen, Frank Thomas belted his ninth with two on in a five-run first inning against Don Drysdale (4-6), who now has lost five of his last six. Ernie Banks hit his 11th and Bob Will his third, both solo shots.

Don Cardwell (3-4) beat the Dodgers for only the second time in nine career decisions. Home runs by Don Demeter and Charlie Neal chased Cardwell in a five-run sixth, and Junior Gilliam hit tying run on second after the Phils had scored three in the ninth. Felix Mantilla and Hank Aaron homered for the Braves. Tony Taylor hit one for Philadelphia. Southpaw Taylor Phillips (0-1) was the loser.

A tie-breaking home run in the seventh inning by Joe Cunningham, his first, beat the Giants. Southpaw Billy O'Dell, was the loser for a 2-5 record. Larry Jackson (6-5) gave up 11 hits, one Willie McCovey's 10th home run, but won his fifth in a row while beating the Giants a third time this season.

Veteran's Glass Loses By Grid Score, 32-8

Let's not confuse football with baseball, but Potters Bank and Trust of the Minor League scored a 32-8 victory over Veteran's Plate Glass Thursday night.

In one other contest, the result was not so lopsided as Potters Savings & Loan scored a 7-3 win over Coca-Cola.

Potters Bank and Trust tallied 13 runs in the first inning to get the show on the road and went on to score in every inning but the second.

Jim Bowersock paced the winners with a triple and home run while Gary Klembara collected a pair of singles and a double.

Bowersock was also the winning pitcher and limited Veteran's to three hits.

Bernie Lovejoy and Tom Standley were locked in a strikeout duel. Standley fanned 15 while Lovejoy added up 10.

Rich Steffan collected a triple for the winners.

Michigan State has had at least one representative on every United States Olympic team since 1928.

Yesterday's Stars

Hitting — Charlie Maxwell, Tigers, drove in three runs with three hits, breaking a 2-3 tie in the eighth inning with his second home run for 4-3 victory over the White Sox.

Pitching — Lindy McDaniel, Cardinals, saved 4-3 victory over the Giants with 1-2-3 mop up in ninth with tying run on base.

East Bank Nine Wins West Virginia Crown

PARKERSBURG — East Bank was back again today as the state high school baseball champion.

The Pioneers from Kanawha County belted Parkersburg yesterday, 7-4, in the championship game of the 18th state tournament held at City Park.

Chicago Continues Dip By Losing 4-3 To Tigers

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

A year ago Dick Stigman was a 17-game loser in the minors. Now he's Cleveland's relief ace, a southpaw stopper who has kept the Indians close to Baltimore in that American League pennant race.

While the Orioles have taken over first place by winning 11 of their last 14 games, Cleveland has clung to second by winning nine of the last 14 — and Stigman has saved five of the nine.

He kept the Indians within 2½ games of the Orioles by putting down a four-run ninth-inning rally at Kansas City Thursday night, saving a 7-6 Cleveland victory over the A's after Baltimore had beaten the New York Yankees 6-5.

Chicago's third place White Sox fell 3½ games back with a 4-3 loss at Detroit. Washington jumped out of the cellar and dropped Boston to eighth by sweeping a doubleheader from the Red Sox, winning the nightcap 8-7 in 10 innings after an 8-3 romp.

Every club but the White Sox chipped in on an 18-home run total that tied a 27-year-old record for five games. Twelve National League homers tied the eight-game major league record of 30 set in 1950.

Stigman, 24, who had a 9-17 record at San Diego in the Pacific Coast League last season, relieved winner Jim Grant (3-1) with three runs home and two-out in the ninth. Dick Williams' pinch single scored another run, but after pinch-hitter Hank Bauer walked, Stigman got Harry Chiti on a fly, ending the A's winning string at five.

Tito Francona, Woodie Held and Johnny Romano homered for the Indians, last six runs, all off Ray Herbert (2-4). Marv Throneberry hit a two-run homer for the A's.

The Orioles scored all their runs on three homers for a three-game sweep over the Yankees and their seventh victory in eight games. Gene Woodling's home run won it, cracking a 5-5 tie in the eighth against Art Dittmar (2-3). Brooks Robinson's one-on home run had tied it 2-all in the fifth, and Jim Gentile then gave the Birds a 5-4 lead in the sixth with a three-run homer. Chuck Estrada (5-1) won it in relief.

Bill Skowron and Roger Maris drove in all of the Yankees' runs and had six of their 10 hits. Each hammered a homer off starter Hoyt Wilhelm, with Maris keeping the AL lead with his 12th.

Charlie Maxwell drove in three runs for the Tigers.

Bagpipes Finds New Way Of Losing Race Opening Day At Waterford Park

According to turf sages, there are 999 ways for the best horse to lose a race.

He can "bleed", bow a tendon, pop an osselet or break a leg; he can be left at the post, stumble at the turn, be knocked off stride or go to his knees; he can run into a blind switch, break a saddle girth, become blinded by mud or lose a shoe.

The Canadian invader, Bagpipes, may have found a new losing method in the opening day Memorial Day Handicap, however. While leading his field on the home stretch turn by three wide-open lengths, and with victory almost safely assured, Bagpipes suddenly made a sharp right turn and bolted up the chute towards the stables and home.

Jockey John Delahousse, seated serenely and confidently in the saddle, went flying through the air to land on the infield as victory turned to abysmal defeat.

He can be sure of one thing, however. Many a horse has gone crashing down among the also rans before him, even as ticket holders were rushing to collect.

At Gulfstream Park a few years ago the good sprinter, Lone Sentry, turned into the straightaway five lengths in front.

At that point, Apprentice Leonard Jacquez reached back with his whip to remind his mount that the home stretch still lay ahead.

The sudden movement aggravated an old injury suffered during World War II days and the boy threw his shoulder out of joint. He was not only unable to help Lone Sentry in the drive but actually was lucky to hang on at all with his one good arm, finishing second.

On another occasion Hangover, breaking from the six furlongs marker, threw his shoe which in some incomprehensible manner became entangled in his tail. Every time the horse took a jump the shoe hit him on the flank, causing him to finish third in a race he might otherwise have had won easy.

For all-time honors, however, Waterford Park trainers concede the palm to Singing Slave who, at 4-to-5, led by four lengths in the stretch at Rockingham Park with Jockey Warren Yarberry riding as close as a horseman on a statue.

At that moment a hurricane, shunted up the coastline from the Caribbean, smashed Rockingham Park with a mailed fist. With four lengths to spare, and only four jumps to travel, Singing Slave reeled from the initial impact, then battled determinedly on. She did it all alone. Before 10,000 pairs of incredulous eyes the heavy wind had lifted Jockey Yarberry completely out of the saddle, turning him end over end in the center field.

Plan Racing Track

PAINESVILLE, Ohio (AP)—Attorney Albert Nozik and realtor Donald G. Reed have announced plans for a harness racing track in Mentor Headlands. Nozik, who owns 700 acres in the Mentor Lagoons area, said a huge recreation center is contemplated, and the six-million-dollar track would be a part of it. The two say they represent a syndicate which is backing the venture.

Yankee Golf Star To Stay As Amateur

By JOHN FARROW

Associated Press Sports Writer

HARLECH, Wales (AP) — Barbara McIntire, holder of both the American and British women's amateur golf titles, today shrugged off all talk about turning professional.

"I plan to continue playing amateur golf and will defend my national amateur at Tulsa in August," the 25-year-old Lake Park, Fla., burnette said shortly after collecting the British trophy.

Miss McIntire defeated Ireland's Curtis Cup star, Philomena Garvey, 4 and 2 in the 36-hole British final Thursday.

She played like a professional to do it. The American girl was eight up with nine to play and turned in precision golf fit to shatter any opponent.

Then the Irish girl tightened her game, fought back in a last gasp finish and won five of the next six holes with the other halved to keep her hopes alive.

But the Florida girl slammed away with par golf and finally wrapped it up on the 34th.

Swaps still holds five Hollywood Park track records.

9th Inning Rally Just Falls Short

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Cleveland Indians dropped in at Municipal Stadium tonight for a weekend series against the Detroit Tigers before hitting the road once more.

The Indians wound up a six-game western trip Thursday night, edging the Kansas City Athletics 7-6. The victory kept the second placers 2 1/2 games behind Baltimore in the American League.

Holding a 7-2 lead going into the ninth inning, Cleveland starter Jim (Mudcat) Grant (3-1) needed help from Dick Stigman to put down a rally that produced four runs.

Marv Throneberry, whose home run with one on in the fourth inning accounted for the only score off Grant until the ninth, led off that inning with a single. Grant walked Ken Hamlin, pinch-hitter Danny Kravitz went out on a long fly to right field, then Bill Tuttle singled in Throneberry. After Jerry Lumpe fled out, Andy Carey doubled, scoring Hamlin and Tuttle.

Grant was replaced by Stigman, who gave up a single to pinch-hitter Dick Williams which brought Carey home.

The big southpaw rookie then walked Hank Bauer before Harry Chiti flied to center for the final out.

The Indians had two big innings, scoring three runs in the third and three in the fifth.

Jimmy Piersall, who had singled, scored in the third on Harvey Kuenn's double. Then Tito Francona hit a homer over the right field fence, his fourth of the season, scoring Kuenn ahead of him.

Woodie Held hit a home run in the fourth with none aboard, his 10th this year.

John Romano hit his third home run of the season over the left field fence in the fifth, scoring Ken Aspromonte and Francona ahead of him.

Four Share Lead In Memphis Golf

MEMPHIS (AP) — The $30,000 Memphis Open golf tournament blasted into its second round today with a herd of eager front runners pondering every stroke.

Tied with 65s were rookie Bob Shave of Willoughby, Ohio, and three old pros, Ken Venturi of San Francisco, Howie Johnson of Houston and Bob Rosburg of Palo Alto, Calif.

Looming one stroke back were Ben Hogan of Fort Worth and Baltimore's Bill Collins.

Six were bunched at 67, including defending champion Don Whit of Borrego Springs, Calif. Six more had 68s and eight others were poised at 69.

The 126 pros and 14 amateurs will be thinned out — to the top 70 pros and ties — after the second 18 over the 6,500-yard, 34-36-70 Colonial Country Club course.

Copter Grabs Starving Boy From Beside Plane's Ruins

FLIN FLON, Man. (AP)—A helicopter Thursday plucked a starving, nearly incoherent little boy from beside the burned wreckage of a plane where he had spent 15 lonely, fear-ridden days in the rugged bush of northwest of Manitoba.

Later the helicopter and its rescue crew returned to collect the bodies of the child's father and a friend who died in the crash 390 miles northwest of Winnipeg.

"Gee, I thought you'd never come," said 9-year-old Walter Sedor to his mother at the Flin Flon hospital.

Although suffering from exhaustion and undernourishment, the child was said to be in good condition.

The father, Steve Sedor, 39, a friend, Ken Harrison, 32, and the child were on a 12-mile flight to Tartan Lake for a fishing trip when the plane crashed May 18.

The boy, sitting in the back seat, apparently was thrown through the roof into heavy brush which broke his fall.

The boy told his rescuers he chewed a few roots and leaves and drank rain water. A package of supplies containing enough food for one person for at least 25 days had been thrown clear but the boy didn't touch it — apparently unaware of what it contained.

Since May 18 the weather during the day had been relatively mild, but on several occasions the temperature approached freezing at night. There were several rainy days.

Thursday, Harvey Evans, a pilot for TransAir Ltd., spotted the boy sitting on a rock about three-fourths of a mile from Tartan Lake. Evans, who was returning from a flight north, said if his course had been 100 yards to either side he would not have seen the child.

Gas Strikers Cut Picketing

A curtailed schedule of picketing of the downtown office and plant of the Ohio Valley Gas Co. was set up by Local 13656 at a meeting Thursday night in the IBOP Hall.

William Bleigh, president, said the new schedule will go into effect Monday with the union to maintain pickets from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. instead of 24-hour shifts as in the past.

The strike against the gas utility entered its 35th day in East Liverpool, Steubenville and Bellaire in a wage contract dispute.

Each member of the 36-member local in East Liverpool will work a 4-hour picket schedule under the new arrangement, Bleigh reported. Night picket lines will cease beginning Monday, Bleigh said, thus giving union members additional time to work part-time jobs elsewhere.

Bleigh and Frank Wisser of East Palestine, a field representative, presided. The president reported there was no discussion about a possible contract extension. Thirty-four attended the meeting. There was no announcement of date for the next union meeting.

Pittsburgh Unions Hit Company Stand

PITTSBURGH — The president of one of five United Mine Workers District 50 locals striking the Manufacturers Light & Heat Co. said the company doesn't want its employees to return to work under an extension.

"It has no regard for the court, the public or its stockholders," Michael Vetter of Local 12051 said Thursday during another futile negotiating session.

Vetter referred to the firm's refusal of a union offer to return to work for 30 days during negotiations.

Another session was scheduled for today, the 35th day of the strike.

Man's Hearing Slated For Smashing Window

Dale L. Rice, 930 St. Clair Ave., is scheduled for a Municipal Court hearing at 2 this afternoon on a charge of malicious destruction of property filed after he allegedly smashed a 26-x-26-inch pane of glass early today in the front door of Vin Muscatelli Pup Tent 12, Military Order of the Cootie, at 110 W. 4th St.

Police said the glass was broken about 2:37 this morning and Rice admitted the act when he was taken into custody at 3:29 at 6th St. and Dresden Ave. on an intoxication charge.

Judge Samuel M. Chertoff fined Rice $10 and costs on the intoxication charge. When Rice said he did not know how to plead on the malicious destruction charge, the judge entered a plea of not guilty and set the case for 2 to arrange the appearance of Patrolman Paul Carter, the arresting officer.

DeMolay Group Plans Hayride Tuesday Night

Plans for a hayride were discussed when Harding Chapter, Order of DeMolay, met Thursday night in the Masonic Temple.

The event will be held Tuesday night at 8:30 at the farm of Homer D. Hoffman, a dad advisor of the chapter. Gary Mackey, master counselor, presided.

Gary Hicks, scribe, read the minutes and reported that July 5 is the deadline for registration for the state convocation. Mackey announced the dates for initiation rehearsals.

Clifford Conley, chairman of the Advisory Council and a dad advisor, appointed Robert Kidd as advisor for a rifle team that is being organized. Initiation was postponed until the meeting June 16. About 35 attended.

Street Worker Retires

S. C. MILLER
Joined Department In 1921.

Samuel C. Miller of Gardendale, oldest member of the street department crew in point of service, has retired after nearly 39 years on the city payroll.

Miller's retirement became effective Wednesday, although he has not worked since early May. He wound up his work May 7 and then started a three-week vacation that ran through June 1. Now he is eligible for a pension under the Public Employees Retirement System.

Except for a single truck, the street department depended upon horses and wagons when Miller joined the force in August 1921. The horses and wagons were kept in a stable near the present site of the Central Fire Station. Shel Powell, who was street commissioner, used the department's lone truck to travel from job to job.

Although many jobs then called for longer hours, Miller worked 8 hours a day for $4. But he didn't have to take care of the horses. That was the job of the teamsters.

Miller is a charter member of Local 677, American Federation of State County and Municipal Employees — the union which represents city workers. The local will pay tribute to him on his retirement at a dinner Monday night, June 13, at Tice's Restaurant on E. 4th St.

At the time of his retirement, Miller was classified as a maintenance man, a semi-skilled laborer or post. His work included construction of manholes and catch-basins, rough carpentry work and similar such jobs.

His retirement plans are indefinite, although Miller said he hopes to continue to do odd jobs occasionally. Fishing and hunting are his hobbies. He has a small patch of tomatoes at his home on Gaddes St., but regrets his lot is not large enough for a bigger garden.

The household includes Miller, his wife, Mrs. Mary Miller, and their son, Leonard. Mr. and Mrs. Miller have three other children: Mervin of Route 30 at Substation; Mrs. Katherine Ramsey of Lisbon and Mrs. Grace Casto of Sophia St.

Geneva College Plans Cornerstone Laying

Geneva College will lay the cornerstone for its new fieldhouse Saturday. The ceremonies, scheduled as part of the college's Alumni Day activities, will be held at 3 p. m. at the site of the new fieldhouse near Reeves Stadium. Ground was broken April 22.

Dr. Edwin C. Clarke, president of Geneva College, will preside. The main address will be given by Dr. Howard C. Emrick, chaplain and professor of religion at Adrian (Mich.) College. He will speak on "Building for the Future."

Scout Leaders Plan Leesville Lake Work

The annual Boy Scout leaders work weekend and "bean feed" at Camp Twin Spruce at Leesville Lake will be held June 17-19. Robert Gray, Cherokee district executive, announced today.

Teams will be formed to work on several projects at the camp to prepare for the summer season. A fee of $1 will be collected to pay for food costs.

Those planning to attend should advise the council office or district executive before June 16 so that food can be ordered, Gray said.

Blood for transfusions can be stored for a maximum of only 21 days.

Leaders Set In Fund Drive

Chairmen for the Columbiana County Retarded Children's Council Fund Drive late in July and early August were named at a meeting of community representatives Thursday night at Lisbon.

Plans for the drive, headed by Atty. Paul Tobin of East Liverpool, were discussed.

Leaders of the drives in each community are: Homer Muse and William Hiscoc, Lisbon; Paul Lange of East Palestine, Arnold Dickey of Negley, Irwin Walker and Alvin Johnston at Salineville, Roy Painter in Hanover Township, Robert Cogan in West Township, R. E. Iden at Homeworth, Forrest Young of Franklin Township, Mrs. Wayne Rudabaugh at Rogers, Mrs. Fred Wolf of the Clarkson and Fredericktown area, and Fred Kelly of Salem.

Tobin will be in charge of the East Liverpool and Wellsville area, with captains to be named later.

Some $15,000 is being sought to operate the 3 present classes for retarded youngsters and for a building fund for a proposed centralized site for the council's education program.

About 20 attended the session at the Lisbon Lions clubhouse. Tobin will announce the next planning meeting.

2 Motorists Fined $5 For Crashing Signals

Two motorists were fined $5 and costs today in Municipal Court on charges of crashing East End traffic signals Thursday night and this morning, although the penalty of one was suspended by Judge Samuel M. Chertoff.

The suspended penalty was given Charles Huntington of Beaver Falls, driver of a bread company's truck, who was cited at 6:50 this morning for making a left turn through the traffic signal at Pennsylvania Ave. and Mulberry St. He pleaded not guilty, but was convicted in a hearing in which the court heard testimony from Patrolman William A. Devon, the arresting officer.

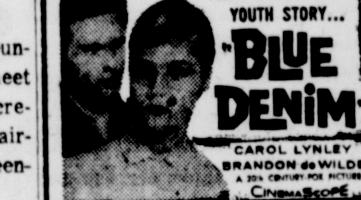

Charles Brereton, 1177 Lisbon St., was fined $5 and $7 costs when he pleaded guilty to crashing the signal at Pennsylvania and Dewey Aves. at 11:50 p. m. yesterday.

Harriet Quimby, a magazine writer, was the first woman airplane pilot in the United States, having been given ticket No. 37 in 1911.

Letter From Chicago

Disturbs Road Officials

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A letter that arrived from Chicago this week has Ohio Highway Department officials a little disturbed. The letter contained three one-dollar bills and an unsigned note which said: "The enclosed $3 is for damages to your road when I went off one while I was there."

Now officials are wondering which road it was, and what kind of damage the conscience-stricken motorist did. Even if they find out, they won't be able to use the $3. By law, anonymous contributions of this kind go to Ohio's general fund.

Burglars Get $5,000

In Gems From Home

CINCINNATI (AP)—Burglars who broke into the home of former Defense Secretary Neil McElroy on May 21 did more than just ransack the place. Mr. and Mrs. McElroy returned home from Europe Thursday and reported 62 pieces of jewelry had been stolen. McElroy said the value was in excess of $5,000. At the time the burglary was discovered, police thought juveniles had broken in and just ransacked the home.

Industry Hall Plans Outlined

Tentative plans for a combined Borough Building and Post Office for Industry were explained by Calvin Dunlap, president, at a meeting of Council Wednesday evening in the fire hall.

Several councilmen were unable to attend a meeting last Friday when plans for the building were discussed by other councilmen and representatives of clubs of the borough. Some 40 attended the meeting, including Michael Baker Jr. III and several of his aides in the Rochester engineering firm.

It was explained that plans for the combination building depend on the federal government's approval of bids. The deadline has been extended to June 20.

Cost of the Borough Building would be about $9,650, at a cost of about $120 a month for 10 years and would include necessary expenditures such as insurance.

Dunlap said the structure would be on a purchase - lease plan. Council plans to consult with Baker again and will meet with the planning committee tonight to discuss zoning ordinances in the building site area.

Several councilmen may attend the convention of Pennsylvania Association of Boroughs June 26-29 at the Pittsburgh Hilton Hotel.

Next meeting will be June 15.

House Committee Votes Today On Care For Aged

WASHINGTON (AP) — A House committee votes today on a strictly limited bill dealing with a hot campaign year issue — health care for the aged.

Its benefits would go to about 1½ million persons 65 or older, not so poor as to need public assistance for ordinary living expenses but unable to meet substantial hospital or doctor bills.

The states would run the program, with federal financial help. The federal government would provide 190 million dollars of the estimated 340 million dollar annual cost.

Ways and Means Committee members who favor a wholly different bill tying old age health benefits to the Social Security system were poised for a final attempt to write such a program into the law. They were apparently outnumbered, however.

In Biblical history, Moses is conceded to have been the organizer of the Hebrew nation.

Highlandtown Graduates 14

John F. Baker, executive head of the Southern Local School District, was the speaker for the eighth grade graduation of Highlandtown School near Wellsville Wednesday night.

Diplomas were presented the 14 graduates by Robert Carter, principal. They are: Ronald Alford, Andris Balputnis, Judy Brown, John Butcher, Willard Dean, Bobby Dornick, Billy Hays, Linda Jarvis, Terry Kampfer, Ray Martin, Jerry Rhodes, Patty Stewart, Cheryl Taggart and Delbert Williams.

Certificates were received by Willard Dean, first; Terry Kampfer and Andris Balputnis, tied for second and Delbert Williams, third, who placed in the upper 25 per cent of their school in the state scholarship test. The class presented a bouquet of flowers to Mrs. Catherine Leatherberry, teacher.

Members of the class participated in the program and lunch was served by the Parent - Teacher Association. Dinner was served 44 by seventh grade mothers at 6:30 to the graduates, seventh graders and faculty members.

Clarence Chettle, president, presided for a session of the association. Students presented a program, Judy Brown and Bob Dornick gave a skit and the seventh grade students sang two selections.

Singing of "America" opened the program. Jon Frischhorn offered prayer. The Rev. William Hewitt of the Central Methodist Church gave the benediction.

Met Star To Appear At Bethany Dedication

Eleanor Steber, Metropolitan Opera star, will take part in the dedicatory program of the new $1 million Thomas W. Phillips Memorial Library building at 2:30 p. m. Saturday at Bethany College.

The library is a gift of the Phillips family of Butler, Pa., as a memorial to Thomas W. Phillips senior and junior.

Louis Cochran of Santa Monica, Calif., novelist, will speak at the dedication. He is the author of the novel, "The Fool of God," a fictional biography of Alexander Campbell. He did research for that book at Bethany.

Actress Fined $52, Jail Term Suspended

LOS ANGELES (AP) — "Thirty Days," said the judge, and actress Greta Thyssen looked suddenly frightened.

But the judge added: "Jail term suspended" — and the Danish-born blonde beauty left Municipal Court Thursday, smiling happily.

She was fined $52.50 and placed on a year's probation on a disturbing the peace charge, filed after an officer said she struck him when he halted her car for a traffic violation. She claimed she thought he was going to kiss her.

States that are collectively called New England are Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, Massachusetts, Rhode Island, and Connecticut.
